Affidavits Filed By Prosecutor In Slaying Case

It's been nearly a month since Cleo V. Keaton, 28, of Dayton was sentenced here to die in the electric chair for the first-degree murder of Maurice Francis on Mar. 23. But the proceedings file continues to grow in the Clerk of Courts office.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer made the latest addition today with the filing of affidavits contending there is no relationship by law existing between himself and a member of the jury that convicted Keaton of the murder charge.

A memorandum filed with the affidavits pointed out that Everett Welsh, Route 2, Ashville, is the husband of Huffer's father's first cousin twice-removed, commonly referred to as a third cousin. Welsh was seated as juror No. 4 on the jury that heard Keaton's case. Defense Attorney Emanuel Nadlin, also of Dayton, supposedly learned of the relationship on the day of sentencing.

Nadlin has been using the relationship as the basis for a series of motions filed in the case asking for a new trial. Judge Ammer had previously overruled the defense counsel's requests and the records are up-to-date with the exception of a motion filed several days ago asking the court to "reconsider its previous rulings."

DeGaulle Mum After Rebuff In Election

Only 43 Pct. Back Le Grand Charles; Run-Off Poll Due

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle maintained silence today after French voters handed a stinging rebuff to his bid for first-round victory in the presidential election.

With a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the voters, De Gaulle polled only 43.96 per cent of the vote in the first round of voting Sunday. This forced him into a run-off Dec. 19 with left-winger Francois Mitterrand, the No. 2 man in the six-man race.

Some Gaullist officials had predicted before the election that if De Gaulle did not get the massive endorsement he wanted, he would refuse to run in the second round. Other officials differed.

"The general is a fighter," said one supporter, "and he will not abandon the combat now."

A second-round victory was considered in the bag for De Gaulle if he runs. Although his image was bruised by the outcome Sunday, it is not likely that he will change his attitudes and ways.

In department after department where he had shown strength in other electoral tests, De Gaulle polled less than 50 per cent of the votes.

Many resent his opposition to political unification of Europe. There are those who chafe at his high-handed handling of the Common Market. Others feel his anti-American attitude is ill-placed and that he is spending astronomical sums on an atomic force which is a midge in a sea of field of giants. Some don't agree with his scathing attacks on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

There also are voters who feel that at 75 De Gaulle is too old to carry the burden of office for another seven years.

Only once before, in 1848, did French voters have a direct say

3 Children Left Orphans By Collision

CRESTLINE, Ohio (AP) — Three small Crestline girls escaped death but were orphaned by a car-train crash Sunday night that also cost the life of their 1-year-old sister.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rayburn and little Theresa were the fatal victims of the accident at a crossing in this Crawford County town.

Mary Jane, 2; Linda, 4, and Cathy, 7, survived.

All six were thrown from the car when it ran into a freight train at the crossing which has no gates nor flasher lights.

The father, 26, was pronounced dead at the scene.

The mother, Mary, 22, died on the way to University Hospital, Columbus.

Theresa expired late Sunday night in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mary Jane was reported in fair condition at Children's.

Linda and Cathy were treated for minor injuries at Crestline Memorial Hospital.

Ohio Wagering Hits Record High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wagering at Ohio horse race tracks this year set new records for the second consecutive year, State Auditor Roger Cloud said today.

Parimutuel machines handled total bets of $164,939,832, Cloud said. There was $158,000,538 wagered during 1964.

The Ohio Fair Fund, he said, collected $824,670 last year, or one-half of one per cent of the total wager. The fund is distributed to the Ohio State Fair, independent fairs and county agricultural societies to support racing.

Park Entry Road Paved

Project Completed Ahead of Schedule

A. D. Pettibone, superintendent of the Pickaway County Highway Department, announced the entry road to A. W. Marion State Park has been paved.

Pettibone noted original plans did not call for paving the road until spring.

However, with work moving ahead of schedule, and the weather remaining favorable, he said the highway department was able to complete the job this fall.

The road was allowed to become almost impassable this summer while officials of the State Division of Parks and the State Department of Highways argued who was to provide funds to repair the roadway.

THE DIVISION of Parks allocated $965 for the job this fall. However, Pettibone noted it cost more than $2,000 to complete the project.

The road was paved with 85 tons of T-35 mix and sealed with 1,000 gallons of tar.

The local superintendent noted some ditch repair work is still to be completed at the site.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was told today the massive Northeast power blackout didn't have to happen — yet could happen again. Experts urged new precautions and perhaps new legislation.

Johnson got a 95-page printed report on preliminary findings by the Federal Power Commission in a Johnson-ordered investigation of the Nov. 9 power failure that affected 30 million people in the United States and Canada.

According to the report, the chain reaction that plunged 80,000 square miles into darkness could have been avoided had employees at Canada's Sir Adam Beck hydroelectric plant on the Niagara River reset an electric relay to handle power loads that had increased significantly since the device was last set in 1963.

Allegations of man-failure were not limited, however, to the Beck plant. The report also said:

—Employees of the Consolidated Edison Co. perhaps could have prevented the blackout from enveloping all of New York City had they acted quickly to shut down parts of their system at the first warning of trouble.

—The complete collapse of the interconnected power system in the Northeast might have been avoided had employees of many individual utility firms taken similar action.

Jet Planes Help U.S. Battalion Rout Red Regiment

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Caught in murderous machine-gun crossfire from a Communist regiment, U.S. infantrymen stood off wave after wave of attacks with help from the sky by U.S. Air Force and Navy jets.

The battle 40 miles northwest of Saigon raged Sunday near the bloody rubber plantation where U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have been hunting the Communists for days following the near destruction of the Vietnamese army 7th Regiment Nov. 27.

Sporadic firing continued today. The Communists repeatedly probed another U.S. battalion in the area during the night.

Reports from the scene said U.S. casualties were heavy, although spokesmen in Saigon described them as moderate. Estimates of Communists dead ranged up to more than 200, although only 40 to 50 bodies were left behind by the Communists.

The battle involved the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in its heaviest fighting since the Big Red One arrived in Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong warned of "punishing new blows" against Saigon, similar to the terrorist attack on a U.S. enlisted men's billet Saturday. Eight persons were killed, including one American.

Soviet Space Shot Nears Lunar Goal

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet space capsule neared the moon today as scientists waited to see whether it would succeed in making a soft landing.

Luna 8, a 3,421-pound bundle of instruments, rockets and casing, was scheduled to reach an area of the moon's surface called the Ocean of Storms at about 4:50 p.m. EST.

The moon capsule's course was altered Saturday to ensure a landing in this region, the Russians announced.

As Luna 8 approaches the moon, retro-rockets are supposed to fire, braking the craft to a gentle descent through the airless lunar atmosphere. This is a tricky maneuver made necessary by the impossibility of using parachutes, which need air to support them.

Twice earlier this year, Soviet moon rockets failed to perform the maneuver correctly and crashed, smashing the instruments. A third attempt missed the moon.

Trio Faces Trial For Slaying Cleric

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Three white men go on trial Tuesday on charges of murdering the Rev. James L. Reeb, a Boston minister who came south to join the civil rights movement.

The defendants are Odel Tuggle, 30, an auto mechanic; his brother, William Stanley Hogle, 36, a salesman; and Elmer Cook, 41, manager of a novelty company. All are Selma residents.

The trio is accused of attacking the Rev. Mr. Reeb as he walked away from a Negro cafe in Selma the night of March 9 after an attempt by civil rights workers to stage a march to Montgomery failed.

President Raps Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board increased interest rates today to their highest level in 35 years, overriding Johnson administration economic policy and drawing immediate presidential disapproval.

The board announced its decision Sunday night, saying higher rates will help prevent inflation and aid in overcoming the persistent U.S. balance-of-payments deficit.

It ordered:

IN HUFFER'S statement filed today, he noted that "It is quite obvious that if people were to trace their family tree far enough, they would purportedly be related to numerous persons of whom they had no knowledge."

Affidavits on file allege that neither Huffer nor Welsh were aware of the relationship between Mrs. Welsh and Huffer's father. Huffer also noted that he didn't know Welsh and had never associated with him "socially or professionally."

Nadlin's oral argument on the day Keaton was sentenced noted that Welsh was seen congratulating Huffer after the trial was over. Huffer's motion today emphatically stated that this is not true.

Keaton was sentenced on Nov. 9. He was immediately transferred to the Ohio State Penitentiary. The execution date has been scheduled April 22, 1966.

Indications are that Nadlin will file his appeal with the Fourth District Court of Appeals within a few days. Deadline for the appeal is Thursday (30 days after sentencing).

Park Entry Road Paved

Project Completed Ahead of Schedule

A. D. Pettibone, superintendent of the Pickaway County Highway Department, announced the entry road to A. W. Marion State Park has been paved.

Pettibone noted original plans did not call for paving the road until spring.

However, with work moving ahead of schedule, and the weather remaining favorable, he said the highway department was able to complete the job this fall.

The road was allowed to become almost impassable this summer while officials of the State Division of Parks and the State Department of Highways argued who was to provide funds to repair the roadway.

THE DIVISION of Parks allocated $965 for the job this fall. However, Pettibone noted it cost more than $2,000 to complete the project.

The road was paved with 85 tons of T-35 mix and sealed with 1,000 gallons of tar.

The local superintendent noted some ditch repair work is still to be completed at the site.

LBJ Advised Blackout Could Repeat

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was told today the massive Northeast power blackout didn't have to happen — yet could happen again. Experts urged new precautions and perhaps new legislation.

Johnson got a 95-page printed report on preliminary findings by the Federal Power Commission in a Johnson-ordered investigation of the Nov. 9 power failure that affected 30 million people in the United States and Canada.

According to the report, the chain reaction that plunged 89,000 square miles into darkness could have been avoided had employees at Canada's Sir Adam Beck hydroelectric plant on the Niagara River reset an electric relay to handle power loads that had increased significantly since the device was last set in 1963.

Allegations of man-failure were not limited, however, to the Beck plant. The report also said: —Employees of the Consolidated Edison Co. perhaps could have prevented the blackout from enveloping all of New York City had they acted quickly to shut down parts of their system at the first warning of trouble.

—The complete collapse of the interconnected power system in the Northeast might have been avoided had employees of many individual utility firms taken similar action.

Jet Planes Help U.S. Battalion Rout Red Regiment

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Caught in murderous machine-gun crossfire from a Communist regiment, U.S. infantrymen stood off wave after wave of attacks with help from the sky by U.S. Air Force and Navy jets.

The battle 40 miles northwest of Saigon raged Sunday near the bloody rubber plantation where U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have been hunting the Communists for days following the near destruction of the Vietnamese army 7th Regiment Nov. 27.

Sporadic firing continued today. The Communists repeatedly probed another U.S. battalion in the area during the night.

Reports from the scene said U.S. casualties were heavy, although spokesmen in Saigon described them as moderate. Estimates of Communists dead ranged up to more than 200, although only 40 to 50 bodies were left behind by the Communists.

The battle involved the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in its heaviest fighting since the Big Red One arrived in Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong warned of "punishing new blows" against Saigon, similar to the terrorist attack on a U.S. enlisted men's billet Saturday. Eight persons were killed, including one American.

Soviet Space Shot Nears Lunar Goal

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet space capsule neared the moon today as scientists waited to see whether it would succeed in making a soft landing.

Luna 8, a 3,421-pound bundle of instruments, rockets and casing, was scheduled to reach an area of the moon's surface called the Ocean of Storms at about 4:50 p.m. EST.

The moon capsule's course was altered Saturday to ensure a landing in this region, the Russians announced.

As Luna 8 approaches the moon, retrorockets are supposed to fire, braking the craft to a gentle descent through the airless lunar atmosphere. This is a tricky maneuver made necessary by the impossibility of using parachutes, which need air to support them.

Twice earlier this year, Soviet moon rockets failed to perform the maneuver correctly and crashed, smashing the instruments. A third attempt missed the moon.

Trio Faces Trial For Slaying Cleric

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Three white men go on trial Tuesday on charges of murdering the Rev. James L. Reeb, a Boston minister who came south to join the civil rights movement.

The defendants are Odel Tuggle, 30, an auto mechanic; his brother, William Stanley Hoggle, 36, a salesman; and Elmer Cook, 41, manager of a novelty company. All are Selma residents.

The trio is accused of attacking the Rev. Mr. Reeb as he walked away from a Negro cafe in Selma the night of March 9 after an attempt by civil rights workers to stage a march to Montgomery failed.

President Raps Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board increased interest rates today to their highest level in 35 years, overriding Johnson administration economic policy and drawing immediate presidential disapproval.

The board announced its decision Sunday night, saying higher rates will help prevent inflation and aid in overcoming the persistent U.S. balance-of-payments deficit.

It ordered: — An increase in the discount rate from 4 to 4.5 per cent, its highest level since 1930. This is the interest the 12 regional Federal Reserve banks charge on loans made to member commercial banks. Any upward movement generally spreads throughout the entire credit structure — applying to consumers who buy houses, cars and other goods on the installment plan.

— An increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 to 5.5 per cent, its highest level ever. This might tend to attract money from other areas — the stock market, savings and loan associations, for example — into the banks.

The board left unchanged the 4 per cent interest ceiling on regular savings accounts.

The administration is powerless to alter the actions. Although board members are appointed by the President, they compose an independent agency, subordinate to no one.

Preparations Pressed For Space Rendezvous

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell Jr. sped smoothly around the world today and preparations moved ahead at a fast rate for the attempt by two manned Gemini spacecraft to carry out the world's first rendezvous in space.

Paul Haney, the voice of Mission Control at Houston, reported pad crews were running 14 to 16 hours ahead of schedule in the race to launch astronauts Walter Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford in the Gemini 6 spacecraft from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The launch is scheduled for Dec. 13, in the ninth day of the scheduled Gemini 7 endurance mission, but Haney said Flight Director Chris C. Kraft was "looking into that eighth day possibility."

The Gemini 6 spacecraft will fly at 17,500 miles an hour in pursuit of the Gemini 7. Pilots of the two ships will attempt to rendezvous in the skies and score a spectacular space first by flying in formation several hours.

Haney reported the tracking station at Carnarvon, Australia, had to call the Gemini 7 several times before the astronauts awakened, but that Lovell responded with a cheery "good morning to you!"

A short time later, Navy Cmdr. Lovell was given permission to perform the first "space striptease" by taking off his space suit whenever he desired. He was to ride for a while in his long underwear.

As Lovell and his flying companion, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, headed toward a third day in orbit, they also hoped to send a message to earth over a concentrated beam of light called a laser.

They may spot the launching or re-entry of a missile scheduled for firing from Cape Kennedy — from where they started their lengthy voyage atop a Titan 2 rocket Saturday and the launching of another missile from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The astronauts were to be awakened about 8:45 a.m. (EST) after a scheduled 10-hour

Seismograph Records Fairly Strong Quake

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California seismograph recorded an earthquake early today some 1,500 miles to the southeast.

That would place the quake off the west coast of Mexico. The quake was recorded as fairly strong — between 6.5 and 6.75 on the Richter scale.

The 1906 San Francisco earthquake measured 8.25 on the Richter scale.

Sales Chalk Record High

Dow Jones Average Drops 10 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was thrown for a severe loss today by the Federal Reserve Board's increase of the bank interest rate.

Key stocks slipped from about 1 to 3 points on a broad front as big blocks changed hands in a selling stampede. Higher-priced issues slid 7 or 8 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4.5 at 348.8 with industrials off 6.0, rails off 3.5 and utilities off 1.7. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 10.36 at 935.74.

Volume was 6.15 million shares at the end of the first two hours. First-hour volume of 3.94 million shares was the greatest since the exchange began keeping hourly records in 1933.

As the market was recovering from its worst losses, there were declines of about 2 points still being shown by such stocks as General Motors, U.S. Rubber, Zenith, Raytheon, Kennecott, Air Reduction and U.S. Smelting.

New York Central was down nearly 3, IBM over 5, Xerox 4. Prices on the American Stock Exchange also sank sharply.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds slid sharply.

Big blocks of stock crossed the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape. Most of them were blue chips showing losses.

Some stocks were down as much as $2 a share from Friday's close.

American Telephone dropped 37 cents to $61 a share on a block of 41,000 shares.

A total of 3.94 million shares changed hands in the first hour of trading. This was the largest total for a first hour since the New York Stock Exchange began issuing transaction figures on an hourly basis on May 19, 1933.

The previous record was 2.93 million shares in the first hour last Sept. 23.

The exchange's high speed ticker tape fell five minutes behind floor transactions.

Collegians Accused In Golf Gear Theft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ashland College students face grand larceny charges in connection with the theft of $3,000 worth of golf equipment from the Glenwood Golf Course in Ashland.

Patrolmen Marlin E. Hardin and James Marcum arrested Donald Frenz, 21, Elida, Ohio, and Alfred Scherer, 19, Shelby, Sunday as they allegedly attempted to sell the equipment to a group of fraternity brothers at Ohio State University.

Ashland police who filed the grand larceny charges said the equipment was taken in a burglary at the golf club Saturday night.

Court Bailiff Will Serve As Patrolman

Ogan Employed As Special Officer To Fill Vacancy

Russell Ogan, Municipal Court bailiff, has been given a leave of absence by Judge Sterling M. Lamb to serve as a special officer with the Circleville Police Department.

Ogan was hired by the city police today in a move to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of William Brungs, veteran 10-year officer.

Police Chief Robert Temple said Ogan will be the desk man on the third truck.

Patrolman Wesley Barton was moved to the second shift to replace Patrolman Richard Blaney who has assumed Brungs' post on the day tour of duty.

CHIEF TEMPLE said a civil service examination will be scheduled in the near future for both patrolmen and a sergeant.

Judge Lamb has appointed his son, Richard Lamb, as temporary bailiff. He will serve until Ogan returns.

The court bailiff's pay is $260 per month.

Ogan, as a special police officer, will receive $1.75 per hour for a 48-hour week.

Jury Seated To Hear Facts In Shooting

An Ashville area man faces charges of shooting with intent to wound in a jury trial that opened today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Walter Cummins, Route 2, Ashville, faces accusations of shooting John Bayes, Willard, Ky., on April 17, 1965. The incident allegedly followed a dispute over a truck load of hay.

Seating of jurors was all that was accomplished in the proceedings this morning due to a "misunderstanding." A recess was called by Judge William Ammer prior to opening statements that were to be made by counsel.

When the recess was called, shortly after 10:30 a. m.; the defendant reportedly thought it was the noon luncheon break and "went downtown for lunch."

CUMMINS was indicted by the September session of the Grand Jury for the shooting of Bayes. The wounded man was hospitalized for a few days following the incident. Cummins, who had posted bond, entered a plea of innocent at his arraignment hearing in mid-September.

Handling the case for the state is Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer and his assistant, Roger Bennington. Cummins' attorneys are William Huston and John Sentz, both Columbus attorneys.

Seated on the jury were Mary A. Howard, Edwin L. Timmons, Glenn R. Yapple, Clement Large, Carole E. Johnson, Dorothy E. Griffith, Martha Ebenhack, Charles W. Walker, Geneva Archer, Ethel L. Thomas, Ruth Downing and Winifred Bidwell. Miss Agnes Jester was seated as an alternate juror.

2 Women, 67 and 77, Both Coeds in Cuyahoga College

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 67-year old woman born in Russia studies with zest the near forgotten language of her childhood.

A grandmother, 77, is jittery about an approaching test but elated that her instructor praised her American history report.

Both are "coeds" at Cuyahoga Community College where 21 winners of senior-citizen scholarships will complete their first semester in late January.

A 69-year-old man, blind for seven years, was one of the most enthusiastic of the senior-citizen students.

Wyatt McKinley Nichols carried a tape recorder to class and listened to a creative writing lessons read by fraternity members at his home before death ended his college studies a week ago.

He summed up best what the scholarships mean to those old enough to remember the one-room school house, but young enough to give education a second fling:

"Instead of sitting at home waiting to die, we have a new lease on life."

The dropout rate has been high—13 of 34 winners named last August to be the first Class Each senior citizen is taking only one or two courses. A drug store chain is paying their tuition and fees, totaling $1,400.

The oldesters range from 60 to 77 years of age, but the nearly 10,000 students at Cuyahoga Community College have not only accepted, but welcomed them.

"They feel they are part of the school — and the younger people are not shutting them out, but helping them," said said John Tsolainos, counselor to the senior-citizen group.

Mrs. Frieda Demick, 67, is earning A's in advanced Russian and regards her work as "a challenge I enjoy."

Her instructor, Mrs. Charles Simon, thinks it is a "marvelous idea" to have a senior citizen among her students.

"The kids have accepted her as a student, and it keeps her young, too," said Mrs. Simon.

northeast of Saigon, a U.S. Marine amphibious force swept across a Communist stronghold after storming ashore Sunday and killing 14 Viet Cong. Eleven others were reported killed by fire from 7th Fleet destroyers and attack planes.

The Viet Cong were reported to have lost as many as 200 dead in a battle Saturday between South Vietnamese forces and the Communists for control of a three-hamlet complex near Quang Ngai City, 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Of a four-man U.S. advisory team, two were killed and two were wounded. A government relief column suffered moderate casualties when it went to the assistance of militia platoons in the villages.

In the battle south of the abandoned Michelin plantation, the Communists opened with a blaze of 50-caliber machine-gun fire from both sides as companies of the 1st Division battalion changed positions during a sweep of a road.

"It was a time of maximum confusion and we paid for that," a bearded combatant said.

At one point the Communists hurled themselves on elements of the battalion in bugle-baring human waves, forcing some of the infantrymen to abandon their wounded. The Americans regrouped and battled their way back to pick up their bleeding buddies.

The fighting raged so close both sides tossed hand grenades at each other.

An American lieutenant was killed as he called over his field radio for an air strike. A wounded sergeant took the microphone to direct the jets against the enemy.

The Viet Cong carefully sprung their trap, planting grenades in tree beforehand. When some of the GIs sought refuge in the thick foliage, the Communists pulled wires which released the grenades onto the Americans. Many of the grenades failed to explode, the U.S. infantrymen said.

S.Sgt. William Henry of Colton, Calif., said he had seen nothing in the Korean War to exceed the savagery of the plantation battle.

Helicopters lifted in a company of troops to reinforce the Americans while artillery and air strikes pounded the enemy positions.

Whales, sea lions and some seals sleep under water, coming to the surface only occasionally to breathe.

do most Americans, any action that raises the cost of credit, particularly for homes, schools and hospitals and factories."

The first reaction in banking circles generally was favorable, although some expressed surprise over the time savings deposit interest raise.

The Johnson criticism was echoed by such groups as the U.S. Savings and Loan League, the National Council for a Sound Monetary Policy and Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Norman Strunk, vice president of the Chicago-based league, declared: "The Federal Reserve has decided to bail out the big banks from a liquidity squeeze under the guise of aiding the fight against inflation."

Patman said the action was arrogant, terming it "a critical situation where a handful of bankers, led by the Federal Reserve chairman (William McChesney Martin Jr.), are in a position to wreck the economy. "It is particularly destructive to small business and the consumer."

Patman said his committee will hold hearings on the matter and that bills would be introduced to restrict the board's power.

Sheriff Receives Report of Wound

Frederick W. Keaton, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Saxour, was treated in Fayette Memorial Hospital Dec. 3 for a wound caused by an exploding shotgun.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was notified of the incident today by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department. It allegedly occurred in Pickaway County.

Heading the local delegation was Tom Conrad of New Holland, president of the Pickaway County NFO Chapter. Also participating were Mrs. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Mt. Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bidwell of Orient.

Theme of the convention was "Successful Bargaining, the NFO Way." The local representatives were part of a record-breaking 10,000 voting delegation from 25 states.

Conrad said the convention unveiled proof that NFO marketing arrangements have netted an advantage to member farmers over and above market improvements everywhere. He said the organization's bargaining has accounted for $4 and $2 per hundred weight in the price rise for hogs and cattle respectively. He predicted other programs will yield similar results in grain and dairy.

NATIONAL NFO President Oren Lee Staley, returned to office by acclamation for the 11th consecutive year, told the convention that six of the nation's 15 largest processing firms are accepting meat from NFO under marketing arrangements.

Staley read a personal telegram from President Lyndon B. Johnson, which in part said, "The farmer is wrapping up his best year since 1952. His success represents our nation's signal progress toward the parity of income — progress which will continue in the years ahead and on through the decade."

Court Bailiff Will Serve As Patrolman

Ogan Employed As Special Officer To Fill Vacancy

Russell Ogan, Municipal Court bailiff, has been given a leave of absence by Judge Sterling M. Lamb to serve as a special officer with the Circleville Police Department.

Ogan was hired by the city police today in a move to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of William Brungs, veteran 10-year officer.

Police Chief Robert Temple said Ogan will be the desk man on the third trick.

Patrolman Wesley Barton was moved to the second shift to replace Patrolman Richard Blaney who has assumed Brungs' post on the day tour of duty.

CHIEF TEMPLE said a civil service examination will be scheduled in the near future for both patrolmen and a sergeant.

Judge Lamb has appointed his son, Richard Lamb, as temporary bailiff. He will serve until Ogan returns.

The court bailiff's pay is $260 per month.

Ogan, as a special police officer, will receive $1.75 per hour for a 48-hour week.

Jury Seated To Hear Facts In Shooting

An Ashville area man faces charges of shooting with intent to wound in a jury trial that opened today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Walter Cummins, Route 2, Ashville, faces accusations of shooting John Bayes, Willard, Ky., on April 17, 1965. The incident allegedly followed a dispute over a truck load of hay.

Seating of jurors was all that was accomplished in the proceedings this morning due to a "misunderstanding." A recess was called by Judge William Ammer prior to opening statements that were to be made by counsel.

When the recess was called, shortly after 10:30 a. m.; the defendant reportedly thought it was the noon luncheon break and "went downtown for lunch."

CUMMINS was indicted by the September session of the Grand Jury for the shooting of Bayes. The wounded man was hospitalized for a few days following the incident. Cummins, who had posted bond, entered a plea of innocent at his arraignment hearing in mid-September.

Handling the case for the state is Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer and his assistant, Roger Bennington Cummins' attorneys are William Huston and John Sentz, both Columbus attorneys.

Seated on the jury were Mary A. Howard, Edwin L. Timmons, Glenn R. Yaple, Clement Large, Carole E. Johnson, Dorothy E. Griffith, Martha Ebenhack, Charles W. Walker, Geneva Archer, Ethel L. Thomas, Ruth Downing and Winifred Bidwell. Miss Agnes Jester was seated as an alternate juror.

2 Women, 67 and 77, Both Coeds in Cuyahoga College

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 67-year old woman born in Russia studies with zest the near forgotten language of her childhood.

A grandmother, 77, is jittery about an approaching test but elated that her instructor praised her American history report.

Both are "coeds" at Cuyahoga Community College where 21 winners of senior - citizen scholarships will complete their first semester in late January.

A 69-year-old man, blind for seven years, was one of the most enthusiastic of the senior-citizen students.

Wyatt McKinley Nichols carried a tape recorder to class and listened to a creative writing lessons read by fraternity members at his home before death ended his college studies a week ago.

He summed up best what the scholarships mean to those old enough to remember the one-room school house, but young enough to give education a second fling.

"Instead of sitting at home waiting to die, we have a new lease on life."

The dropout rate has been high—13 of 34 winners named last August to be the first Class Each senior citizen is taking only one or two courses. A drug store chain is paying their tuition and fees, totaling $1,400.

The oldsters range from 60 to 77 years of age, but the nearly 10,000 students at Cuyahoga Community College have not only accepted, but welcomed them.

"They feel they are part of the school — and the younger people are not shutting them out, but helping them," said John Tsolainos, counselor to the senior-citizen group.

Mrs. Frieda Demick, 67, is earning A's in advanced Russian and regards her work as "a challenge I enjoy."

Her instructor, Mrs. Charles Simon, thinks it is a "marvelous idea" to have a senior citizen among her students.

"The kids have accepted her as a student, and it keeps her young, too," said Mrs. Simon.

Gls Stand Off

northeast of Saigon, a U.S. Marine amphibious force swept across a Communist stronghold after storming ashore Sunday and killing 14 Viet Cong. Eleven others were reported killed by fire from 7th Fleet destroyers and attack planes.

The Viet Cong were reported to have lost as many as 200 dead in a battle Saturday between South Vietnamese forces and the Communists for control of a three-hamlet complex near Quang Ngai City, 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Of a four-man U.S. advisory team, two were killed and two were wounded. A government relief column suffered moderate casualties when it went to the assistance of militia platoons in the villages.

In the battle south of the abandoned Michelin plantation, the Communists opened with a blaze of 50-caliber machine-gun fire from both sides as companies of the 1st Division battalion changed positions during a sweep of a road.

"It was a time of maximum confusion and we paid for that," a bearded combatant said.

At one point the Communists hurled themselves on elements of the battalion in bugle-blaring human waves, forcing some of the infantrymen to abandon their wounded. The Americans regrouped and battled their way back to pick up their bleeding buddies.

The fighting raged so close both sides tossed hand grenades at each other.

An American lieutenant was killed as he called over his field radio for an air strike. A wounded sergeant took the microphone to direct the jets against the enemy.

The Viet Cong carefully sprung their trap, planting grenades in tree beforehand. When some of the Gls sought refuge in the thick foliage, the Communists pulled wires which released the grenades onto the Americans. Many of the grenades failed to explode, the U.S. infantrymen said.

S.Sgt. William Henry of Colton, Calif., said he had seen nothing in the Korean War to exceed the savagery of the plantation battle.

Helicopters lifted in a company of troops to reinforce the Americans while artillery and air strikes pounded the enemy positions.

Whales, sea lions and some seals sleep under water, coming to the surface only occasionally to breathe.

SEND-OFF GIVEN SERVICEMEN — Red Cross volunteers served coffee and donuts to nine departing servicemen at 6 a. m. today at Selective Service headquarters here. Each man was also given a packet containing notepaper, envelopes, stamps, a pen and an admonition to "write to the folks back home." Participating in the "send-off" were Red Cross volunteers Mrs. Charles Walker (far left), Mrs. C. S. McCloud (far right) and Mrs. Roloff Wolford. Sent for induction by order of the local Selective Service Board were Richard E. Roberts, Route 2; James M. Hicks, Route 1, Kingston; Danny Rose, 531 Island Road; Alfred Marcum, Route 1, Orient; James H. Ramey, Route 2, Ashville; Charles Fast, Laurelville; Carl E. do most Americans, any action that raises the cost of credit, particularly for homes, schools, hospitals and factories."

The first reaction in banking circles generally was favorable, although some expressed surprise over the time savings deposit interest raise.

The Johnson criticism was echoed by such groups as the U.S. Savings and Loan League, the National Council for a Sound Monetary Policy and Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Norman Strunk, vice president of the Chicago-based league, declared: "The Federal Reserve has decided to bail out the big banks from a liquidity squeeze under the guise of aiding the fight against inflation."

Patman said the action was arrogant, terming it "a critical situation where a handful of bankers, led by the Federal Reserve chairman (William McChesney Martin Jr.), are in a position to wreck the economy."

"It is particularly destructive to small business and the consumer."

Patman said his committee will hold hearings on the matter and that bills would be introduced to restrict the board's power.

Sheriff Receives Report of Wound

Frederick W. Keaton, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Saxour, was treated in Fayette Memorial Hospital Dec. 3 for a wound caused by an exploding shotgun.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was notified of the incident today by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department. It allegedly occurred in Pickaway County.

Pickaway NFO Delegation Returns from Convention

Six National Farmer Organization delegates from Pickaway County have returned from what has been termed the greatest farm convention in history at St. Louis, Mo.

Heading the local delegation was Tom Conrad of New Holland, president of the Pickaway County NFO Chapter. Also participating were Mrs. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Mt. Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bidwell of Orient.

Theme of the convention was "Successful Bargaining, the NFO Way." The local representatives were part of a record-breaking 10,000 voting delegation from 25 states.

Conrad said the convention unveiled proof that NFO marketing arrangements have netted an advantage to member farmers over and above market improvements everywhere. He said the organization's bargaining has accounted for $4 and $2 per hundred-weight in the price rise for hogs and cattle respectively. He predicted other programs will yield similar results in grain and dairy.

NATIONAL NFO President Oren Lee Staley, returned to office by acclamation for the 11th consecutive year, told the convention that six of the nation's 15 largest processing firms are accepting meat from NFO under marketing arrangements.

Staley read a personal telegram from President Lyndon B. Johnson, which in part said, "The farmer is wrapping up his best year since 1952. His success represents our nation's signal progress toward the parity of income — progress which will continue in the years ahead and on through the decade."

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER ONE

This is the story of the Zabbazara bus. How it came to go to Santa Land, and how Santa happened to ride in it, and how it came to Zabbazara which is a land where the sun always shines and no grownups are allowed.

The Zabbazara bus was not always the Zabbazara bus. It used to be the Main Street bus. Mr. Diefenderfer was the driver. He had such a long name no one ever bothered to say it. Not even Mr. Diefenderfer. Everyone called him Mr. D, and that's what he called himself.

He was a little fellow with big ears and long feet and crossed eyes. For as long as

Mr. D drove the Main Street bus.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Dec. 6, the 340th day of 1965. There are 25 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Taiti and named it Hispaniola.

On this date:

In 1876, Rutherford B. Hayes was elected president of the United States by a special commission after an Electoral College dispute left Samuel J. Tilden one short of the required majority vote.

In 1889, the president of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, died.

In 1938, Nazi Germany and France signed a nonaggression pact.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt made a personal appeal for peace to Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

In 1943, a three power declaration was issued on the Roosevelt - Churchill - Stalin agreement at Tehran.

Ten years ago — The United Nations General Assembly voted to shelve further discussion of racial discrimination in South Africa.

Five years ago—World Communist leaders, meeting in Moscow, issued a manifesto which declared that war was not inevitable.

One year ago—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived in Washington for conferences with President Johnson.

anyone could remember he had been the driver of the Main Street bus, which never went anywhere at all except up and down Main Street 33 times a day.

As soon as the sun rose each morning Mr. D got on his bus and put on his special driving glasses. He put on the glasses the very first thing because without them he saw two of everything, and seeing even one more Main Street was almost more than he could bear.

As soon as he put on his glasses he took off his shoe. His feet were so big he could never get shoes that fit, and his feet always hurt.

He tucked his shoes under the seat. Then he put on his driver's hat. It was an official cap and very smart. At least on anyone else it would have looked smart. But the way Mr. D's big ears curled up around the hat it looked like a flying saucer with wings that had just happened to land on Mr. D's head by mistake.

He didn't look like much of a driver. But then the bus he drove didn't look like much of a bus either.

It looked like a beaten up old picnic basket on wheels. People said it was a hundred years old at least, and how it held together.

er no one knew. Yet Mr. D loved the bus. It was Main Street he just couldn't stand any more. And the people who rode the Main Street bus. They were very rude to Mr. D.

"Pull in your ears," they said to him. "They're shutting out the view."

They looked at his big shoes tucked under the seat and said, "Do you have permission to carry BOATS on this bus?"

Mr. D was tired of it all. He kept wondering, "What lies beyond Main Street?"

One day, right in the middle of the Christmas rush, Mr. D decided he had had enough. He got a signboard and he painted on it in big red letters Zabbazara. He took down the sign on the side of the bus that said "Main Street" and he put up the new sign saying "ZABBAZARA."

The he got on the bus and he drove straight through the town never stopping once for all the people waiting for the Main Street bus.

ULAN BATOR, Mongolia (AP) — Mongolia, a landlocked country sandwiched between the Soviet Union and China, is trying desperately to catch up with a world which once trembled at the feet of its most famous son, Genghis Khan.

Not long ago it was a feudal realm of lamas and princes, loosely tied to China. Today, 44 years after communism took over, it is caught in the middle of the struggle between Red China and the U.S.S.R.

Where once the two giants appeared to cooperate in Mongolia, they now compete for influence. At the moment the Soviet Union appears far ahead, but some in Mongolia are not happy about the satellite status this has imposed on their country. And the Chinese have not altogether vacated the arena.

The present government of the Mongolian People's Republic — commonly known as Outer Mongolia — under Ukhagijn Tsedenbal, the premier and first Communist party secretary, has gone down the line with Moscow. Domestically it has allowed Soviet economic and cultural influences to flourish while apparently merely tolerating a limited amount of Chinese influence.

This policy is by no means universally popular. Many Mongolians, including some in high places, are disturbed that the government has been burning its bridges.

At a tense, noisy meeting of the party's Central Committee last December, a number of speakers attacked government policies and demanded Tsedenbal's resignation. He put down the revolt and three officials regarded as promising candidates for future high office were expelled from the party.

Nobody here believes Tsedenbal's victory necessarily means the end of popular misgivings about his pro-Soviet policy.

A little more than a month after the rebellion, a Soviet delegation headed by a party Presidium member, Alexander N. Shelepin, came to Mongolia. It is believed Shelepin told the premier the Kremlin expected him to act decisively against any challenge to Moscow's position here.

Close collaboration with Moscow undoubtedly yielded dividends. In the next five-year plan it is estimated Mongolia will receive more than $700 million worth of aid from Moscow, a remarkable amount for a country of only a million.

This traditionally has been a land of nomadic herdsmen. Its livestock — sheep, goats, cattle, horses, camels — outnumber its people 23-1. But while much of the nation's limited resources go into rural development, even more is being plowed now into industry.

Probably less than 30 per cent of the Mongolians are urban dwellers. Most of these live in Ulan Bator, a city of 200,000 whose name means "Red Hero."

About 60 per cent of the capital's people still live in yurts, tent-like dwellings similar to those of the herdsmen. These are scattered throughout the city in pockets, often surrounded by fences which seem intended to banish the thought that the yurts are there at all.

On the streets, well-dressed young men and women walk briskly past sage-like figures in the belted robes of the ancient Mongols. Soviet cars and trucks have the wide streets almost to themselves. Soviet movies flood in. Russian books are everywhere in bookstores. Russian and East European magazines are sold on newsstands.

Outside the capital is a different world. Within a few miles you see bush-tailed horses galloping across rolling plains, ridden by men with wide, crimson faces and high cheekbones. They look as though they had just returned from a campaign with the ancient warrior conqueror Genghis Khan.

Except for a single hard-surface route running north and south from the capital for 95 miles, few roads are worthy of the name. Overland transport is by primitive tracks which bend and twist around the mountain slopes or across river beds, disappearing in open fields.

About 80 per cent of Mongolia's foreign trade is with the Soviet Union. While submitting to massive Soviet economic and cultural penetration, Mongolia is making an obvious effort to contain Chinese influence. One reason is the country's wholehearted commitment to Moscow Britain.

in the Soviet-Chinese quarrel. "There isn't a Mongolian who doesn't fear China for historical reasons," says an informed Western observer.

While pursuing pro-Soviet policies, however, Mongolia shows increasing interest in developing relations with the outside world. Mongolia has diplomatic relations with about 30 countries but except for the Communist nations only one has established a diplomatic mission here — Britain.

Circleville's Better Shoes

Why do we have such big wheels on our little car?

There are some gripping reasons. It would be worth having big wheels on the VW just so it could have big tires. Why? Because big tires hold the road better and last longer than little tires. But that's only half of it.

The Volkswagen people put those big wheels on the VW so that we could have bigger brakes, too.

Obviously, the bigger the brakes the surer the stops.

The big wheels also let nice fresh air in to cool the brakes more quickly.

Which means that the VW's brakes always come back for more, no matter how hard you step on them.

The VW's wheels are bigger than they have to be because VW likes to overdo things in a big way. (Like the fourth coat of paint that you really don't need, either.)

So when you drive away in your new VW, you can expect about 40,000 miles on the original rubber. (Which is roughly twice what you can hope for on most other cars.)

But you'll have to go a long way to beat the record held by Mr. Robert Walton of Homestead, Florida.

He chalked up 103,345 miles on his original set of 5 tires.

Which is quite a stretch to go without getting tired.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

CHAPTER ONE

This is the story of the Zabbazara bus. How it came to go to Santa Land, and how Santa happened to ride in it, and how it came to Zabbazara which is a land where the sun always shines and no grownups are allowed.

The Zabbazara bus was not always the Zabbazara bus. It used to be the Main Street bus. Mr. Diefenderfer was the driver. He had such a long name no one ever bothered to say it. Not even Mr. Diefenderfer. Everyone called him Mr. D. and that's what he called himself.

He was a little fellow with big ears and long feet and crossed eyes. For as long as

Mr. D drove the Main Street bus.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Dec. 6, the 340th day of 1965. There are 25 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Haiti and named it Hispaniola.

On this date: In 1876, Rutherford B. Hayes was elected president of the United States by a special commission after an Electoral College dispute left Samuel J. Tilden one short of the required majority vote.

In 1889, the president of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, died.

In 1938, Nazi Germany and France signed a nonaggression pact.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt made a personal appeal for peace to Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

In 1943, a three power declaration was issued on the Roosevelt - Churchill - Stalin agreement at Tehran.

Ten years ago — The United Nations General Assembly voted to shelve further discussion of racial discrimination in South Africa.

Five years ago—World Communist leaders, meeting in Moscow, issued a manifesto which declared that war was not inevitable.

One year ago—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived in Washington for conferences with President John F. Kennedy.

anyone could remember he had been the driver of the Main Street bus, which never went anywhere at all except up and down Main Street 33 times a day.

As soon as the sun rose each morning Mr. D got on his bus and put on his special driving glasses. He put on the glasses the very first thing because without them he saw two of everything, and seeing even one more Main Street was almost more than he could bear.

As soon as he put on his glasses he took off his shoe. His feet were so big he could never get shoes that fit, and his feet always hurt.

He tucked his shoes under the seat. Then he put on his driver's hat. It was an official cap and very smart. At least on anyone else it would have looked smart. But the way Mr. D's big ears curled up around the hat it looked like a flying saucer with wings that had just happened to land on Mr. D's head by mistake.

He didn't look like much of a driver. But then the bus he drove didn't look like much of a bus either.

It looked like a beaten up old picnic basket on wheels. People said it was a hundred years old at least, and how it held together no one knew. Yet Mr. D loved the bus. It was Main Street he just couldn't stand any more. And the people who rode the Main Street bus. They were very rude to Mr. D.

"Pull in your ears," they said to him. "They're shutting out the view."

They looked at his big shoes tucked under the seat and said, "Do you have permission to carry BOATS on this bus?"

Mr. D was tired of it all. He kept wondering, "What lies beyond Main Street?"

One day, right in the middle of the Christmas rush, Mr. D decided he had had enough. He got a signboard and he painted on it in big red letters Zabbazara. He took down the sign on the side of the bus that said "Main Street" and he put up the new sign saying "ZABBAZARA."

The he got on the bus and he drove straight through the town never stopping once for all the people waiting for the Main Street bus.

Mongolia Trying To Catch Up with World

By JOHN BEST
Canadian Press Writer

ULAN BATOR, Mongolia (AP) — Mongolia, a landlocked country sandwiched between the Soviet Union and China, is trying desperately to catch up with a world which once trembled at the feet of its most famous son, Genghis Khan.

Not long ago it was a feudal realm of lamas and princes, loosely tied to China. Today, 44 years after communism took over, it is caught in the middle of the struggle between Red China and the U.S.S.R.

Where once the two giants appeared to cooperate in Mongolia, they now compete for influence. At the moment the Soviet Union appears far ahead, but some in Mongolia are not happy about the satellite status this has imposed on their country. And the Chinese have not altogether vacated the arena.

The present government of the Mongolian People's Republic — commonly known as Outer Mongolia — under Ukhagijn Tsendenbal, the premier and first Communist party secretary, has gone down the line with Moscow. Domestically it has allowed Soviet economic and cultural influences to flourish while apparently merely tolerating a limited amount of Chinese influence.

This policy is by no means universally popular. Many Mongolians, including some in high places, are disturbed that the government has been burning its bridges.

At a tense, noisy meeting of the party's Central Committee last December, a number of speakers attacked government policies and demanded Tsendenbal's resignation. He put down the revolt and three officials regarded as promising candidates for future high office were expelled from the party.

Nobody here believes Tsendenbal's victory necessarily means the end of popular misgivings about his pro-Soviet policy.

A little more than a month after the rebellion, a Soviet delegation headed by a party Presidium member, Alexander N. Shelepin, came to Mongolia. It is believed Shelepin told the premier the Kremlin expected him to act decisively against any challenge to Moscow's position here.

Close collaboration with Moscow undoubtedly yielded dividends. In the next five-year plan it is estimated Mongolia will receive more than $700 million worth of aid from Moscow, a remarkable amount for a country of only a million.

This traditionally has been a land of nomadic herdsmen. Its livestock — sheep, goats, cattle, horses, camels — outnumber its people 23-1. But while much of the nation's limited resources go into rural development, even more is being plowed now into industry.

Probably less than 30 per cent of the Mongolians are urban dwellers. Most of these live in Ulan Bator, a city of 200,000 whose name means "Red Hero."

About 60 per cent of the capital's people still live in yurts, tent-like dwellings similar to those of the herdsmen. These are scattered throughout the city in pockets, often surrounded by fences which seem intended to banish the thought that the yurts are there at all.

On the streets, well-dressed young men and women walk briskly past sage-like figures in the belted robes of the ancient Mongols. Soviet cars and trucks have the wide streets almost to themselves. Soviet movies flood in. Russian books are everywhere in bookstores. Russian and East European magazines are sold on newsstands.

Outside the capital is a different world. Within a few miles you see bush-tailed horses galloping across rolling plains, ridden by men with wide, crimson faces and high cheekbones. They look as though they had just returned from a campaign with the ancient warrior conqueror Genghis Khan.

Except for a single hard-surface route running north and south from the capital for 95 miles, few roads are worthy of the name. Overland transport is by primitive tracks which bend and twist around the mountain slopes or across river beds, disappearing in open fields.

About 80 per cent of Mongolia's foreign trade is with the Soviet Union. While submitting to massive Soviet economic and cultural penetration, Mongolia is making an obvious effort to contain Chinese influence. One reason is the country's whole-hearted commitment to Moscow in the Soviet-Chinese quarrel. "There isn't a Mongolian who doesn't fear China for historical reasons," says an informed Western observer.

While pursuing pro-Soviet policies, however, Mongolia shows increasing interest in developing relations with the outside world. Mongolia has diplomatic relations with about 30 countries but except for the Communist nations only one has established a diplomatic mission here — Britain.

Woman Is Questioned In Lima Fatal Shooting

Miss L. C. Chukes was picked up at a farm next to the parking lot where the body of Willie J. Mitchell was found at Ferguson Lake Reservoir here Saturday. No charges have been filed against Miss Chukes, who was awaiting grand jury action in the previous case originating last September.

Why do we have such big wheels on our little car?

There are some gripping reasons. It would be worth having big wheels on the VW just so it could have big tires.

Why? Because big tires hold the road better and last longer than little tires.

But that's only half of it. The Volkswagen people put those big wheels on the VW so that we could have bigger brakes, too.

Obviously, the bigger the brakes the surer the stops.

The big wheels also let nice fresh air in to cool the brakes more quickly.

Which means that the VW's brakes always come back for more, no matter how hard you step on them.

The VW's wheels are bigger than they have to be because VW likes to overdo things in a big way. (Like the fourth coat of paint that you really don't need, either.)

So when you drive away in your new VW, you can expect about 40,000 miles on the original rubber. (Which is roughly twice what you can hope for on most other cars.)

But you'll have to go a long way to beat the record held by Mr. Robert Walton of Homestead, Florida.

He chalked up 103,345 miles on his original set of 5 tires.

Which is quite a stretch to go without getting tired.

Modesty Strikes Back

While many elsewhere have been muttering and sputtering in resentment against the London Look in fashions, Los Angeles has done something about it.

As its answer to the British capital's thigh-high skirt, in particular, the West Coast metropolis has come up with a creation striking the other extreme, the ankle-length Granny Gown, worn with a ruffled "Betsy Ross" dust cap. Teen-age girls there, by all reports, are going for this new ensemble in droves.

Los Angeles' open warfare on the short-short mode is especially remarkable because of the fact that it has been a preeminent hatcher of zany fads and cults of all types itself. But, motives aside, advocates of modesty will cheer its application of the fight-fire-with-fire strategy.

Should the Granny Gowns and the thigh-highs cancel each other out, there undoubtedly would be much cheering on both sides of the Atlantic.

Coming to Bat

Organized baseball has hired a retired Air Force general as its new commissioner. With Milwaukee and Atlanta warring over the transfer of the Braves franchise, a military background may come in handy.

William D. Eckert comes to the commissioner's job virtually unknown. But he has an opportunity to make a name for himself.

If he can brighten up the game — speed it up, introduce innovations, scrape off some of the barnacles of tradition — he may become famous as the man who restored baseball as the national pastime.

Proper Cup of Tea Is Possible

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — It used to be easier in America to rob a bank in daylight than it was to get a decent cup of tea in a public place.

Things are looking up now. You can almost get a decent cup of tea in a bank while robbing it—banks do so much for one today.

One of the signs of maturity in a civilization is its ability to muster the service of a drinkable tea.

Although America is regarded as a youthful land, it is now 345 years from that distant day when the Pilgrims first stepped ashore here in 1620.

Ever since then we have tried to perfect a proper cup of tea, and it seems to me that we've almost got the problem licked.

Essentially, the solution is simple. You put tea leaves in a porcelain enclosure that has a spout. Then you pour absolutely boiling water over it, pause and recite from memory the counties of Ireland including the six still under British rule, and pour.

Then you sugar to taste, put in a little warm milk, and drink. You have all the liquid happiness that can be found under heaven.

Purists may insist upon refinements of this technique. They may say, for example, that good tea can only be made from free tea leaves, and they may criticize tea bags.

One of their bewhiskered jokes:

"We mailed some tea bags to our cousins in County Mayo and, not knowing what else to do with them, they hung them as decorations on their Christmas tree."

Actually, of course, all you need to do to make good tea is the mutual association of boiling water, tea leaves — bagged or free — and porcelain.

Waitresses now know this in Damascus, Hong Kong, Glasgow and Dubuque.

There is a variant known as instant tea made with cold water. It is not new. It was invented in Boston Harbor nearly two centuries ago by a number of unruly colonials dressed as Indians.

Tea is responsible for one of America's most firmly fixed habits.

During World War II our military tourists in Britain were annoyed because the English, even in the throes of battle, would pause at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. to brew tea.

Our jeers have faded. Now no honest workman in our own land can continue on the job without pauses at about those same hours for what we call "the coffee break."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Viet Nam conflict and the Great Society may stage a private war of their own in the next few weeks as a new federal budget is hammered out.

Costs of both have been rising. The first casualty appears to be hopes of another tax cut. But if the military spending rises much faster, some of the Great Society programs may have to be set back in their timing.

These new programs have been estimated to call for more than $30 billion over the next five years. How much more the war will cost is shrouded in considerable mystery and uncertainty.

Together the war and the new social programs already have increased the federal deficit this year well above the estimate of last January.

The new budget which President Johnson will submit to Congress next month will outline spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The rest of this month the President and heads of government departments will be trying to choose between various spending proposals. The object: to try to keep total expenditures within a liveable range of probable tax collections — a range that doesn't threaten a dangerously large deficit.

This year the Congress appropriated a record $119 billion, $13 billion more than last year. But the First National City Bank of New York points out today in its December letter that the impact is yet to be felt since in addition to appropriations it "authorized huge amounts as part of new welfare legislation" which will call for appropriations in future years.

Since the President has promised to ward off inflation wherever it threatens, many private economists now feel that this year the shaping of the new federal budget will be done with much more of an eye to cost cutting than a year ago, when Defense Department spending was declining instead of rising as today.

The outcome of such frugality, if it develops, could affect many government activities, old and new. The more the Viet Nam war costs rise, the tighter the squeeze on sums available for the Great Society programs.

The bank economists think both the President and the Congress will be more inclined to give fiscal restraint top priority.

Budget drafting in the next few weeks should give a clue.

A diner at the Baroque Restaurant in N.Y., asked the head waiter if he could take home a half-finished bottle of wine for his dog. "It's very, very bad for a dog to drink wine," frowned the head waiter, "and besides, it's against the law to give a dog intoxicating liquids." "Who's giving it to him?" demanded the diner. Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is meant by gastritis of the intestines due to alcohol? Gastritis is an inflammation, irritation or infection of the lining of the stomach. Gastros in Greek means stomach.

Alcohol is undoubtedly a chronic irritant to the sensitive, lining of the stomach. When the stomach is inflamed, the neighboring duodenum, or small intestine, can also be distressed. This is called duodenitis, an inflammation of the duodenum.

Hot spicy food, dietary indiscretion and emotional stresses can also produce the discomfort of gastritis.

What is the cause of chronic phlebitis? Can an injury be responsible? Phlebitis is an inflammation or infection of the lining of the veins. This may occur in any of the veins of the body. Most frequently this happens in the veins of the legs.

Injury most certainly may be responsible for phlebitis. It is by no means the only cause.

People who are particularly sensitive to tobacco may develop a condition, Burger's disease, which affects the veins and the arteries of the extremities.

Infection of the hands and feet may spread to the veins and cause phlebitis.

When the inner lining of the veins becomes inflamed there is a slowing of the blood flow and a tendency to develop "clots" within the veins.

Can hormones be used to help the soreness and fullness of the breasts before the menstrual period?

The tenderness of the breasts that appears before the menstrual cycle is perfectly normal and must not be a source of concern.

The menstrual period is a complete interchange between the hormones of the ovaries and the pituitary gland in the brain. Almost every hormone secreting gland becomes involved in some way in this complicated body mechanism.

To take hormones during this time would only serve to disturb the delicate balance so essential to the entire process.

Added support of the breasts during this period will usually relieve the discomfort. Simple home medicines are almost always effective in alleviating the distress. If the symptoms are very severe and incapacitating, there are many other prescription drugs that can bring relief.

Bridge Building

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania was recurring to one of his favorite themes, the incredible innocence of Americans in dealing with the outer world. Specifically, he was referring to the inability of the U. S. State Department to see the value of maintaining the hint of steel in the background when the official policy of the moment is a grand deployment of olive branches.

"Your boys in Washington," said the Foreign Minister, in the undiplomatic speech which he reserves for private conversation with his close friends, "have just done an unpardonable thing. I refer, of course, to their action in forcing Brutus Coste out of his job as secretary-general of the Assembly of Captive European Nations."

"Brutus, as you should know, was once a diplomat for Rumania, which is not to be confused with my country of Ruritania. For eleven years he was the live wire of the Assembly of Captive European Nations. Unfortunately, he had to depend for his operating funds the Free Europe Committee, which operates Radio Free Europe. Now, I have nothing against the activities of Radio Free Europe; in its work of carrying the Western viewpoint to Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other Iron Curtain countries it can't very well dissociate itself from the policies of the U. S. State Department. It wouldn't last a minute if it were to urge the Hungarians to rise again in revolution at a time when President Johnson is trying to 'build bridges' to the established regimes of Eastern Europe."

"This, however, is beside the point. Let us freely grant that Radio Free Europe must stay within foreign policy limits in its efforts to keep the spark of freedom alive behind the Iron Curtain. But the Assembly of Captive European Nations, which came into being as an organization of exiles, is supposed to represent the exiles' views. If it departs from these it has no value. The exiles are under no compulsion to believe in the U. S. official policy of 'bridge building' — and they would be doing violence to their innermost convictions if they were to endorse this policy. 'Bridge building' may suit the overall needs of the U. S. at the moment, for Dean Rusk is manifestly bidding to get Soviet Russia on his side in the pursuit of an honorable settlement in Southeast Asia. But the needs of the people of Poland and Czechoslovakia have nothing whatsoever to do with the hopes of the U. S. for Southeast Asia."

"My friend Brutus Coste," so the Foreign Minister of Ruritania continued, "had irrefutable evidence that U. S. aid to Poland in 1957 enabled the Communist government in Warsaw to withdraw some concessions it had begun to grant to the Polish people. The tendency of American aid is always to strengthen the governments that dole it out. Only idiots can believe otherwise. And Eastern Europeans are not idiots. The gag that is being repeated throughout Eastern Europe today is that the U. S. is building bridges at its own expense, but the toll gates are all on the Communist side.

"Of course, your men in Washington are not the only fools in this matter of enabling Communist governments to live without giving concessions to their own people. The French are even more foolish. They are now granting fifteen-year credits in Eastern Europe. The Reds will eventually offer goods for interest payment on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Since the only thing the Communists have to give to the West is oil, the bag is obviously being held by such companies as Standard Oil and Dutch Shell. They will get it in the neck, and that will be the end of your 'bridge building' economic diplomacy."

"Brutus Coste knows this, and said so. So the Free Europe Committee and the Radio Free Europe boys, responding to Washington's arm-twisting, gave Brutus Coste the bum's rush in an election that obviously can be questioned."

"I put the blame where it belongs, on your State Department. But it is not the State Department's deviousness that I dislike. It's the sheer shortsightedness of the move. They should have maintained Coste in his position in the Assembly of Captive European Nations as a hint to Moscow that, if 'bridge building' doesn't help freedom, there are always tougher alternatives, such as offering wheat in exchange for the dismantling of the Berlin Wall."

By John Chamberlain

Antipoverty Director Answers Vital Questions about Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — From New York to Los Angeles, the nation's frontline warriors against poverty — those at the community level — have raised a number of questions, the chief being, "Where are we going to find jobs for all the people we are training?"

After a coast-to-coast study of the poverty war's progress, The Associated Press collected the major questions and presented them to Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Here are the questions and Shriver's answers:

Q. OEO is training a host of people in the Jobs Corps, the Neighborhood Youth Corps and in other programs. Where are you going to find jobs for these people? Have you given any thought to the possibility of a large public employment program in event of a slump?

A. All of these people are not being trained for jobs we have to create that are new. There are 77 million Americans employed today. Some of them are going out of the work force every year and they have got to be replaced, so that we are equipping persons today who are totally unequipped. We are equipping them to get jobs in regular lines of work, not just new lines. And that brings me to the second half of the question: What happens if there is a substantial recession?

If there is a substantial recession — or depression — this affects a lot more than the success or failure of the war against poverty.

As a consequence I'd say that the war against poverty, like everything else, is dependent upon a healthy American economy.

Q. At $1.25 to $1.75 an hour nobody really moves out of poverty. How does this go to the question as to whether we should raise the minimum wage?

A. Let me say this: People in the group we are dealing with have a median income of $1,800 a year. And if we are able to take all those fellows and put them on a $1.25 five days a week for 52 weeks, they would be so substantially improved that it would be a great boost for them, irrespective of whether they technically are deemed to have emerged from poverty.

Q. There is a long-range question which concerns a great many: How do the poor go about acquiring the social and economic mobility, regardless of race, religion or national origin, which is apparently going to be necessary if they are going to move into the mainstream of American life?

A. Well, my own belief is that these problems have got to be solved by American society if we are going to have "the Great Society."

What are we doing about it is the next question. First of all, we have to start at position one, which is to get people equipped intellectually and socially so they can have the fundamentals necessary for mobility. What does that mean? It means education. It means housing. It means medical care. It means a lot of other things — and that is what we are doing.

Q. One of the things that turned up in connection with Head Start the pre-school training program for poor children, aged 4-6 specially in Chicago, is that a number of the children — maybe as high as 20 per cent — had diseases or other troubles — ringworm, anemia, malnutrition, lung ailments. Now it is one thing to examine these people and discover they need help, another to do something about it. Where are the doctors to come from, the hospital beds and who is going to pay the bills?

A. You have asked a question about one of the toughest problems facing American life.

I am extremely pleased that President Johnson's administration finally got through the Congress in the last session a big bill to provide federal money to enlarge medical education in the United States. We are producing too few doctors.

However, that is only part of the problem. In our program we are producing health aides.

They are people who can go out and lead people to clinics as a method of bringing health services to people. I think the question of how this is to be financed is one of the biggest problems facing America, but medicare has shown that certain types of assistance can be given to older people without disrupting either our economy or our philosophy of government.

Let me say this: I think one of the benefits of the war against poverty is that we have uncovered some of these conditions.

Q. Another question which has arisen is whether it is a legitimate function of the federal government to foot bills for legal aid in areas involving tenant-landlord relations, purchase agreements and civil rights. What are your thoughts?

A. Well, it seems to me that one of the greatest functions of government is justice.

The purpose of the Department of Justice is to make sure that society does justice to the people who are members of society. Now, what has been found out with increasing accuracy and detail is that there is a huge number of Americans who don't get justice under existing law.

Now, not to get justice is just as bad as not being able to get health aid, not to be able to get education. In some respects, not being able to get justice alienates people from our society because they figure it is an unjust society. Therefore all citizens have to address ourselves to the question: How do we get justice?

This is not to say that we will start off on the assumption that we will give free legal advice or free something else. But the question is the simple but profound question: How do we get justice to these people for today they are not getting justice. What we are trying to do is experiment in a number of different ways to find out how we can get justice to these people.

Antipoverty Director Answers Vital Questions about Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — From New York to Los Angeles, the nation's frontline warriors against poverty — those at the community level — have raised a number of questions, the chief being, "Where are we going to find jobs for all the people we are training?"

After a coast-to-coast study of the poverty war's progress, The Associated Press collected the major questions and presented them to Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Here are the questions and Shriver's answers:

Q. OEO is training a host of people in the Jobs Corps, the Neighborhood Youth Corps and in other programs. Where are you going to find jobs for these people? Have you given any thought to the possibility of a large public employment program in event of a slump?

A. All of these people are not being trained for jobs we have to create that are new. There are 77 million Americans employed today. Some of them are going out of the work force every year and they have got to be replaced, so that we are equipping persons today who are totally unequipped. We are equipping them to get jobs in regular lines of work, not just new lines.

And that brings me to the second half of the question: What happens if there is a substantial recession?

If there is a substantial recession — or depression — this affects a lot more than the success or failure of the war against poverty.

As a consequence I'd say that the war against poverty, like everything else, is dependent upon a healthy American economy.

Q. At $1.25 to $1.75 an hour nobody really moves out of poverty. How does this go to the question as to whether we should raise the minimum wage?

A. Let me say this: People in the group we are dealing with have a median income of $1,800 a year. And if we are able to take all those fellows and put them on a $1.25 five days a week for 52 weeks, they would be so substantially improved that it would be a great boost for them, irrespective of whether they technically be deemed to have emerged from poverty.

Q. There is a long-range question which concerns a great many: How do the poor go about acquiring the social and economic mobility, regardless of race, religion or national origin, which is apparently going to be necessary if they are going to move into the mainstream of American life?

A. Well, my own belief is that these problems have got to be solved by American society if we are going to have "the Great Society."

What are we doing about it is the next question. First of all, we have to start at position one, which is to get people equipped intellectually and socially so they can have the fundamentals necessary for mobility. What does that mean? It means education. It means housing. It means medical care. It means a lot of other things — and that is what we are doing.

Q. One of the things that turned up in connection with Head Start the pre-school training program for poor children, aged 4-6 specially in Chicago, is that a number of the children — maybe as high as 20 per cent — had diseases or other troubles — ringworm, anemia, malnutrition, lung ailments. Now it is one thing to examine these people and discover they need help, another to do something about it. Where are the doctors to come from, the hospital beds and who is going to pay the bills?

Boy, 4, Dies of Wound Inflicted by Mother

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A struggle of 50-odd hours to save 4-year-old William Bradley McIlwain, victim of a Fairfield County domestic shooting, ended Sunday. Wounded in the head, the boy died in Children's Hospital here.

Bradley's mother, Mrs. Carolyn McIlwain, is at Columbus State Hospital for psychiatric examination and treatment after the pistol shooting in her home north of Lancaster. Her other child, Flynn, 3 months, was shot in the chest but has been improving at Children's.

Ohio Is Ranked Third On Food-for-Needy List

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio was third among 11 states covered by the Agriculture Department's Midwest Area Food Distribution Office in number of needy persons receiving food donated by the department, statistics for September show.

Michigan and Illinois had the most, with Ohio having 145,605 of the area's total of 840,712 participants. Recipients in the Midwest increased 2 per cent from August, the office said.

Copeland Named Head Of Diagnostic Center

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The former New Orleans social worker who has been acting superintendent of the State Juvenile Diagnostic Center, Victor Copeland, has been formally appointed superintendent. The Ohio Youth Commission promoted Copeland and advanced George Contakia, who has been the center's chief social worker, Sunday to Copeland's old post of deputy superintendent.

Holiday Theme Highlights Combined Meet

Members of Salem WSCS and Salem WCTU held a combined meeting Thursday in the church. Mrs. Fairy Alkire, vice president of the WSCS, gave a talk concerning the symbols of Christmas.

The social room was decorated with a holiday theme. There were 28 members and four guests present and a gift exchange was held.

Christmas hymns were sung following the responsive reading. Mrs. Ira Barr read Scripture and a meditation, "The Old Year Comes To A Close." Mrs. Hankins presented a reading and a poem.

Mrs. Paul Hankins, WCTU president, opened by following the theme, "Progress in Principle." Mrs. Durbin Allen read Scripture and a meditation, "The Old Year Comes To A Close." Mrs. Hankins presented a reading and a poem.

Mrs. Barr read a secretary's report from the WCTU record book of Sept. 1931.

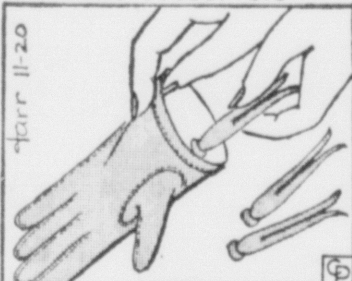

Mrs. Ned Boldoser, WSCS president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Ralph Ankrum gave the secretary's report. The group made plans to give Christmas baskets to needy families. Miss Betty Boldoser, treasurer, reported.

Refreshments were served.

Church Women Slate Meeting Thursday

Local OES Chapter Meets

Betty Liston, worthy matron, was in charge of the business meeting when Circleville Chapter No. 90, OES, met recently in the Masonic Temple. She offered a welcome with the poem "Mother Nature's Work Is Complete."

One new member was elected to receive the degrees. A donation was given to Christmas Seals. Fern Hines, ways and means chairman gave a report on the stock sale dinner and noted the refrigerator would soon be delivered. Thank you notes were read from Jan and Bill Speakman and the J. Sam Morris family.

Invitations to the following installations were read: Jefferson Chapter No. 300, Concord Chapter No. 520, 8 p. m. tomorrow; Forest Chapter No. 122, 8 p. m. Dec. 11; Royal Chapter No. 29, 7:30 p. m. Dec. 17; Grand Installation of Lockbourne Chapter No. 575, 8 p. m. Dec. 18.

Betty Liston and Fern Hines, associate matron, gave reports of Grand Chapter. Reports from special projects were also presented. Betty and Robert Liston gave their farewell and thanks to the Chapter and closed the meeting with a poem of Thanksgiving.

Installation of officers of Circleville Chapter No. 90 will be held 8 p. m. Dec. 14 and practice will be held 2 p. m. Dec. 12.

Refreshments were served by Helen Spring and her committee.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Flirting or Friendly?

DEAR ABBY: Just what is the difference between "flirting" and being friendly with a man? I have been accused of flirting when I have only meant to be "nice" to a fellow. I am single and people tell me I'm the type they feel like they've known all their lives only a few minutes after meeting me. Men DO ask me out as soon as they meet me, but I have trouble with them after that. They try to take liberties with me and I am not that kind of girl. How can I be friendly enough to capture a man's interest, without giving him the idea that anything goes?

JUST FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: "Flirting" constitutes encouragement above and beyond the platonic plateau. The girl who is constantly being misunderstood is a little TOO friendly. Don't be a tease. The man who mistakes the dating call for the mating call needs his hearing tested. Start by saying "NO" very clearly.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was selected to be one of a few for a big honor in her school. She had a lot of competition but, Abby, she won it fairly and squarely. We later heard through the grapevine that the reason our daughter won was because we were friendly with some of the people who had a big say in picking the winner. I swear on a stack of Bibles that we never once mentioned our daughter or anything about that "Honor" to these people. This sure does take the joy out of it for us. How can we let folks know that she won with no help from anybody?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't waste your time or energy. Your friends don't need to be assured and your enemies wouldn't believe the truth anyway. Credit it to the sour grapevine and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Please be a pal and discourage people from sending out those boring five-page Christmas newsletters that seem to have replaced the lovely traditional Christmas card. I realize that some people don't have time to write letters to their friends all year and their annual Christmas letter helps bring folks up to date on what has happened to all the members of the family since last page duds make wonderful kindling.

DEAR ABBY: I was delighted with the way you answered that woman who wanted to know what was wrong with discussing people. You said, "Intelligent people talk about ideas, — not people." How true. And what a joy it is to be around them.

One of the loveliest qualities found in all truly great ladies is their reluctance to talk about absent parties in a manner which is uncomplimentary to them. This kind of behavior reflects good breeding and inspires affection and trust. It is something we all "know" but should be reminded of from time to time. Thank you for reminding us.

Holiday Theme Highlights Combined Meet

Members of Salem WSCS and Salem WCTU held a combined meeting Thursday in the church. Mrs. Fairy Alkire, vice president of the WSCS, gave a talk concerning the symbols of Christmas.

The social room was decorated with a holiday theme. There were 28 members and four guests present and a gift exchange was held.

Christmas hymns were sung following the responsive reading. Mrs. Ira Barr read Scripture followed by prayer.

Mrs. Paul Hankins, WCTU president, opened by following the theme, "Progress in Principle." Mrs. Durbin Allen read Scripture and a meditation, "The Old Year Comes To A Close." Mrs. Hankins presented a reading and a poem.

Mrs. Barr read a secretary's report from the WCTU record book of Sept. 1931.

Mrs. Ned Boldoser, WSCS president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Ralph Ankrom gave the secretary's report. The group made plans to give Christmas baskets to needy families. Miss Betty Boldoser, treasurer, reported.

Refreshments were served.

Church Women Slate Meeting Thursday

Ladies Missionary Society of the Northridge Church of Christ will meet 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the church.

Meet Set Tomorrow

Kappa Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will meet 8 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Robert Scranton, 424 Cedar Heights Road.

Local OES Chapter Meets

Betty Liston, worthy matron, was in charge of the business meeting when Circleville Chapter No. 90, OES, met recently in the Masonic Temple. She offered a welcome with the poem "Mother Nature's Work Is Complete."

One new member was elected to receive the degrees. A donation was given to Christmas Seals. Fern Hines, ways and means chairman gave a report on the stock sale dinner and noted the refrigerator would soon be delivered. Thank you notes were read from Jan and Bill Speakman and the J. Sam Morris family.

Invitations to the following installations were read: Jefferson Chapter No. 300, Concord Chapter No. 520, 8 p. m. tomorrow; Forest Chapter No. 122, 8 p. m. Dec. 11; Royal Chapter No. 29, 7:30 p. m. Dec. 17; Grand Installation of Lockbourne Chapter No. 575, 8 p. m. Dec. 18.

Betty Liston and Fern Hines, associate matron, gave reports of Grand Chapter. Reports from special projects were also presented. Betty and Robert Liston gave their farewell and thanks to the Chapter and closed the meeting with a poem of Thanksgiving.

Installation of officers of Circleville Chapter No. 90 will be held 8 p. m. Dec. 14 and practice will be held 2 p. m. Dec. 12.

Refreshments were served by Helen Spring and her committee.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Flirting or Friendly?

DEAR ABBY: Just what is the difference between "flirting" and being friendly with a man? I have been accused of flirting when I have only meant to be "nice" to a fellow. I am single and people tell me I'm the type they feel like they've known all their lives only a few minutes after meeting me. Men DO ask me out as soon as they meet me, but I have trouble with them after that. They try to take liberties with me and I am not that kind of girl. How can I be friendly enough to capture a man's interest, without giving him the idea that anything goes?

JUST FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: "Flirting" constitutes encouragement above and beyond the platonic plateau. The girl who is constantly being misunderstood is a little TOO friendly. Don't be a tease. The man who mistakes the dating call for the mating call needs his hearing tested. Start by saying "NO" very clearly.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was selected to be one of a few for a big honor in her school. She had a lot of competition but, Abby, she won it fairly and squarely. We later heard through the grapevine that the reason our daughter won was because we were friendly with some of the people who had a big say in picking the winner. I swear on a stack of Bibles that we never once mentioned our daughter or anything about that "Honor" to these people. This sure does take the joy out of it for us. How can we let folks know that she won with no help from anybody?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't waste your time or energy. Your friends don't need to be assured and your enemies wouldn't believe the truth anyway. Credit it to the sour grapevine and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Please be a pal and discourage people from sending out those boring five-page Christmas newsletters that seem to have replaced the lovely traditional Christmas card. I realize that some people don't have time to write letters to their friends all year and their annual Christmas letter helps bring folks up to date on what has happened to all the members of the family since last page duds make wonderful kindling.

DEAR ABBY: I was delighted with the way you answered that woman who wanted to know what was wrong with discussing people. You said, "Intelligent people talk about ideas, — not people." How true. And what a joy it is to be around them.

One of the loveliest qualities found in all truly great ladies is their reluctance to talk about absent parties in a manner which is uncomplimentary to them. This kind of behavior reflects good breeding and inspires affection and trust. It is something we all "know" but should be reminded of from time to time. Thank you for reminding us.

Gemini Flight Goes Along OK

The mission has been dubbed "Dr. Berry's flight" because "its main goal is to learn how well man mentally and physically withstands long exposure to the space environment."

The planned 14 days equals the length of the longest manned lunar landing flight scheduled in the U.S. Apollo program. Gemini 6 is to stay aloft only a day or two, depending on when the rendezvous is completed.

Borman and Lovell normally keep earthlings laughing with a steady flow of jokes and wisecracks. But in space they've been all business, performing numerous tasks, taking pictures and reporting on their progress and the operation on their space chaper.

They asked Sunday for the scores of professional football games. Borman's two teen-age sons usually act as "ball boys" for the Houston Oilers, but didn't return to town in time for Sunday's game. They had been at Cape Kennedy with Mrs. Borman to watch their father shot into space.

Astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, Navy lieutenant commander, read the scores.

He had talked with Mrs. Borman and Mrs. Lovell and reported to the astronauts that all was well on the home front.

"Jim's crew status report remains at three," Cernan said. This referred to the fact that Mrs. Lovell is expecting their fourth child this month.

The astronauts wore new lightweight space suits for the trip and originally planned to remove and pack them away for about 10 days. But for safety reasons, officials decided to have only one man unsuited at a time. If the cabin suddenly lost its pressure, an unsuited astronaut would die quickly.

"We don't expect any such emergency," said Kraft. "But we want to have at least one man suited at all times in case something goes wrong."

"We'll have Jim Lovell remove his suit first. If he has no trouble, they may alternate taking them off.

Kraft explained the experiment:

"It will be a step toward having spacemen on long flights work in their shirt sleeves. But it also will provide information for designing future spaceships which will have a shirt-sleeve atmosphere."

"When an astronaut wears a suit, its system automatically carries moisture away from the body. We want to find out what happens when this moisture remains in the cabin. Will the humidity rise? Will water float in the cabin or cloud or freeze on the windows? High humidity might make it uncomfortable for the astronauts."

Three Russian cosmonauts wore regular airplane pilot flight suits while orbiting the globe in the Voskhod 2 craft last year.

Lovell had hoped to fire the laser beam at a receiving station in Hawaii Sunday, but the station was not ready. Another attempt will be made about 6 p.m. (EST) today.

Engineers hope that lasers will prove feasible for communicating with later spacecraft bound for the planets.

The flight, except for a few minor problems at the start, has been almost as smooth as the pre-launch preparations — which were the most perfect ever conducted on a U.S. manned space flight.

The Titan 2 rocket blasted off precisely on time at 2:30 p. m. and drilled Gemini 7 into an orbit ranging from 100 to 204 miles high. The astronauts gradually will change that to a circular orbit 185 miles high, the desired course for rendezvous.

Command pilot Borman immediately turned the spacecraft around 180 degrees to look at the second stage trailing behind them. By delicately maneuvering Gemini 7 he remained close to it for 17 minutes.

It was the first time a manned space ship, U.S. or Russian, performed such a feat, which is called "station keeping." Gemini 6 and 7 will station-keep with SENATOR CANDIDATE — Joseph J. Murphy, former state representative and Columbus attorney, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state senator from the new 17th District. one another after they rendezvous.

The Soviet Union has not yet flown a cosmonaut craft with the maneuverability to conduct such a mission.

Gemini 7 ran into two early problems with the power-producing fuel system. One was swiftly corrected by a flick of a switch. The other appeared to be no real problem; it was believed the detection light that indicated it was faulty.

The only other difficulty was with a photometer, a device to measure the intensity of stars when they are seen through the earth's atmosphere.

Both Saturday and Sunday something like a scrap of paper or strap flapped against Lovell's window. Kraft said it could be a piece of an explosive cord that separated the spacecraft from the rocket or one of several strips of black tape attached to the spacecraft for temperature control.

"We'll probably have to wait until Gemini 6 gets up there to find out what it is," said Kraft.

A piece of metal the astronauts saw flying near their capsule probably was a remnant of a Titan 3C rocket launched earlier. There was no explanation for several tiny particles which briefly flew near Gemini 7 early in the flight.

Purse-Snatch Suspect Is Captured

CINCINNATI (AP)—An Xavier University student and his father, two National Guardsmen and another man combined to catch a man who allegedly had grabbed a purse from a woman as she walked to church Sunday.

Mrs. Ernestine Watson, 44, said she was seized by a man who started beating her. He grabbed her purse and ran when she screamed.

Mark Lindenmeyer, 18, an Xavier student, and his father saw the attack from their auto. They stopped and gave chase.

The younger Lindenmeyer caught up with the man and slugged him, and then got him in a head lock.

Others who joined in the chase and helped hold the man until police arrived were Al Schimewag, 22, and Jim Grote, 22, National Guardsmen on their way to weekend duty, and Arthur Turner, 35.

The man was identified as Maurice Watson, 21, who was held for investigation. He is no relation to the victim, Mrs. Watson.

$1 Million Fire Started by Three Boys

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Three boys playing in their "clubhouse" underneath a large warehouse have admitted they accidentally started a fire, resulting in an estimated $1 million damages.

The fire Sunday destroyed the warehouse owned by the M. J. Gibbons Supply Co., a plumbing supply and distribution center. Around 25 tanks of propane gas exploded.

One boy's hair was singed and three firemen suffered minor injuries during the spectacular fire.

The fire either destroyed or heavily damaged most of the plumbing fixtures and various supplies kept in the warehouse. A company official said the inventory was worth $1 million and it was unlikely much of it could be saved.

Police said the boys purchased a coffee can of gasoline and took it to their "clubhouse" between the foundation and floor of the one-story building. They had crawled through a hole knocked in the concrete blocks by delivery trucks.

One of the youths stuck a bamboo stick in the gasoline and struck a match, setting the building on fire. The boys told authorities they had not meant to set the structure on fire.

Two of the youths are age 11 and the other is 10. They were released to custody of their parents.

Judge Says Squealing Tires Don't 'Grate'

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. (AP)—When is a squealing tire not a squealing tire? When it grates, according to Hamilton Circuit Court Judge Edward F. New.

The judge recently voided a city ordinance which provides a fine for a driver squealing the tires of a car unnecessarily within city limits. He said an ordinance must be "plainly worded." The Noblesville ordinance refers to tire squealing as "grating," he said.

Ohio Pen Inmate Wins Citation for Writing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"What I wrote came from the heart," says Hollis (Bob) Leigh, Ohio Penitentiary inmate who has won first place in a nationwide penal press contest. The prisoner-writer took the honors in competition sponsored by Southern Illinois University's journalism department. His story concerned his brother's development from "bad boy" to useful, law-abiding citizen.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is finally baffled. He put the heat on business and labor to prevent inflation by keeping prices and wages down. But William McChesney Martin Jr. had his own ideas on how to prevent inflation, and Johnson couldn't do a thing with him.

Martin, just a few days short of 59, is a conservative, tight-money man and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board which under law is set up to operate independently of the President and Congress.

Martin's seven-man board thought one way to put a brake on inflation was to raise interest rates, which was the opposite of Johnson's thinking. He feared higher interest would put a brake on the booming economy.

Sunday night the board, ignoring Johnson, went ahead, boosted the rates.

The man whose foresight in all this turned out best was Johnson's fellow Texan and Democrat, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Last June, Martin made a speech at Columbia University, saying there were "disquieting similarities" between the present prosperity and the boom that preceded the 1929 market crash and the depression of the 1930s.

The stock market promptly took a dive. Many brokers thought Martin's speech was a factor in that. Patman said Martin had parted company with the Johnson administration and should step out, letting the President appoint his own chairman.

(The President appoints the board members, with Senate approval, but he can't fire them. They have fixed terms. Martin's is 14 years. He was first appointed by President Harry S. Truman, was reappointed by President John F. Kennedy.)

Johnson's secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, took a sunnier view than Patman. He said he didn't see anything in Martin's words foretelling action by the board to raise interest rates.

Johnson talked with Martin, said he saw no reason for "gloom or doom." But months passed and Johnson must have sensed or learned what the board had in mind, for Sunday the Washington Post said that last week Johnson phoned Martin from his ranch, asking him down for a weekend talk.

The Post said that Martin said he couldn't go until Monday and then on Friday, Martin called a Reserve Board meeting which Sunday night ordered an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate banks pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve.

This would immediately affect major borrowers like corporations. The rates would also affect mortgage borrowing.

They probably will not directly affect consumers' interest rates but interest rates affect everyone, directly or indirectly.

The Circleville Herald, Mon. Dec. 6, 1965
Circleville, Ohio

Johnson issued a statement deploring the board's actions. There doesn't seem much he can do about it. Patman said Johnson should demand Martin's resignation and promised an investigation of Martin's actions by his committee.

Singer Robert Goulet Tells Why He Prefers TV Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sometimes you wonder about actors.

Take a fellow like Robert Goulet. The robust Canadian can pull down a few hundred thousand a year merely by exercising his singing voice in night clubs, concerts and television. So why would he chuck it for the precariousness of a spy television series.

"For two reasons," he explained during a brief stopover here. "One is that a series will give me a chance to stay in one place for six months, something

I haven't been able to do for the past three years.

"The other reason is that a television series might convince movie producers that I can act. They may be in doubt after my first two pictures."

His films were "Honeymoon Hotel" and "I'd Rather Be Rich." To put it kindly, they did not fulfill the promise he displayed as Lancelot with Richard Burton and Julie Andrews in "Camelot" on Broadway.

Goulet has canceled a flock of munificent singing dates to begin production in Munich next week on "Blue Light," which will debut on ABC Jan. 12. He reported that his take per week will be $5,000, out of which he must pay his manager and company expenses. Thus he'll end up with just about what he could earn in one night in Las Vegas.

"To afford the show, I had to build up a backlog of resources," Goulet remarked. "That's why I just did a tour of college concerts.

"If the show should survive for a few years, I'll be the winner in the long run."

Its chances? "Blue Light" will start with one or two strikes against it. For one thing, series that debut in midseason seldom succeed. For another, spies are profuse on television this year.

The story line of "Blue Light" — that's Goulet's code name — has him portraying an Allied agent in Nazi Germany during the last World War. The first half dozen shows will be filmed in actual locales of Munich, Berchtesgaden and other Hitler haunts. Then the company returns to Hollywood for more shooting.

Georgia GIs To Get Copies of State Flag

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Carl E. Sanders says he has allocated $600 from his emergency fund to buy Georgia flags for servicemen in Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson reportedly will buy the flags and see that they get to Georgians on the fighting front.

SCRAMBLE — This scramble in the first quarter of the game between Teays Valley and Westfall was typical of the thrilling action throughout the contest. A capacity crowd was on hand to see the Mustangs win in a triple overtime.

Mustangs Defeat Vikings In Three Overtimes, 79-72

By BILL DORE
Westfall High School's Mustangs tripped Teays Valley in a triple-overtime tilt Saturday, 79-72, on the Vikings' home floor.

For the third consecutive game Teays Valley fans got their share of thrills and chills. And for the third time, the Vikings came out on the short end of a very close score.

Teays Valley controlled the opening tip, and for the most part the first half of play.

At several points during the third quarter, the Vikings were up by as much as 16 markers.

BUT Larry Wilson's crew from Westfall fought back gamely. With TV scoring only 18 points during the third period, the Mustangs started to close the gap with 23.

Teays Valley led by a scant five points to start the final can, to 47-42. In the hectic fourth quarter, Westfall controlled the tip and quickly scored to bring them within three.

Tom Hamman followed with a 20-foot jump shot and then came right back to score on a driving layup and the foul shot that followed put the Mustangs ahead, 49-47, for the first time in the game. There remained 6:47 of playing time left at this point.

ASSIST — Teays Valley's Butch Kinsell seems to be riding on the shoulders of an unidentified Westfall player as he drove in for a layup.

Butch Kinsell quickly knotted things by hitting both ends of a one-and-one situation.

Westfall stormed ahead in the next few minutes and were up by eight points with 3:43 to go.

Then it was Teays Valley's turn to come back. Using the fast break effectively, the Vikings evened the score at 58-58 on a jump shot by Rod Teets, with a fine assist from Gerald Green.

THE MUSTANGS called time and when action started again, Neil Coleman hit one of his long range jump shots. Only 40 seconds of play remained.

Kinsell clicked on a 15-foot shot to tie the score again. Neither team was able to score again in regulation play.

On the tip of the first overtime, Westfall controlled the ball and Coleman hit another long jump shot to put the Mustangs ahead.

Gary Wilson came back for TV and canned two pressure packed foul shots.

With 51 seconds remaining in the first overtime, Coleman connected on another long shot. But TV came right back as Teets knotted the score at 64-64.

A desperation shot by Coleman hit the rim of the basket, rolled around twice and then fell off the side, and the game went into the second overtime.

IN THE second extra session, Tom Beard quickly scored for the Mustangs. But Green retaliated for TV and the score was tied again.

For about two minutes, neither team could score.

With 50 seconds to go, Hamman took a pass from Coleman and put the Mustangs out front. Eight seconds later, Kinsell was fouled and the 5-10 senior calmly stepped up and cashed in on the two gift shots.

This time it was Ray Mowery's turn to give the Viking fans a scare as he took a desperation shot which hit the rim, bounced high into the air and fell away from the basket.

With the capacity crowd going wild, the third and final overtime began. In this extra session, Westfall outscored Teays Valley, 11-4.

Coleman led all scorers with 29 points. Beard was right behind with 20 for the Mustangs.

TEAYS VALLEY featured a more balanced attack with four of the five starters hitting in double figures.

Gary Wilson had 18 points. Green led in assists with seven and in rebounds with 10.

As a team, Teays Valley hit on 23 of 55 shots for a 41.8 per cent mark.

From the charity stripe, the Vikings cashed in on 26 of 39 attempts for a 67 per cent clip. The Mustangs hit 11 of 19.

In the preliminary tilt, TV salvaged a split as they overwhelmed the Jayvees from Westfall, 53-34.

Ohio Colleges Book 61 Tilts For This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's colleges have booked 61 basketball games for this week, starting as Ohio State unveils its sophomore flash, Bill Hosket.

The Buckeyes, 1-1 on foreign floors, play North Carolina's tough Tarheels tonight and visit Butler Wednesday before taking a 12-day layoff.

A long way from Los Angeles, where Hosket was a standout but didn't get much help, the Bucks hope to rebound from last Friday's 92-66 shellacking by NCAA champion UCLA.

North Carolina figures as no easy mark, based on its 82-63 conquest of William & Mary Saturday night.

Nine Ohio teams, including majors Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo and Kent State, boosted their records to 2-0 on Saturday's 26-game state slate.

The Bearcats drubbed Miami's Redskins 68-58, the Flyers won at Eastern Kentucky 72-69 as big Hank Finkel got 25 points, Toledo jounced Wisconsin State 105-64, and Kent squeaked Pitt 79-67.

Ohio University and Bowling Green of the Mid-American Conference bowed on Big Ten courts. Northwestern edged the Bobcats 62-60 on football quarterback Dave Milam's closing seconds free throws, and No. 2 ranked Michigan clawed the Falcons 108-70.

The 2-for-2 teams among the smaller schools as a result of Saturday triumphs are Denison, Central State, Findlay, Defiance and Bluffton. All won by at least 10 points.

Ohio Wesleyan qualifies as the state's toughest luck team. The Bishops lost 78-77 in the last second and 75-73 in the last five seconds in two outings last week.

Features this week include: Tuesday — Michigan State at Bowling Green, Miami at Dayton Wednesday — Canisius at Xavier, Thursday — Toledo at Temple, Friday and Saturday — Miami in Pittsburgh's Steel and Capital in the Valparaiso (Ind.) Lutheran tourney, Saturday — Syracuse at Kent State Ohio U. at Chicago Loyola, Xavier at St. Bonaventure.

Trojan Halfback Wins Rushing Title

NEW YORK (AP) — All-Americas Mike Garrett of Southern California and Jim Grabowski of Illinois, two hard-hitting workhorses, finished 1-2 in the 1965 major college football rushing race.

Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner as the nation's top player, won the title with 1,440 yards, according to figures released today by the NCAA. The sturdy 5-foot-9 Trojan halfback carried 267 times in 10 games, only three less carries than the single-season record set in 1951

Braves Stop St. Al, 67-56

PALMER PUMPS — Ken Palmer (24) arches a shot toward the basket late in the game between Logan Elm and St. Aloysius. Other Braves in the action are Tom Smith (left), Don Benaer (42) and Danny Dahl (22). Logan Elm won, 67-56.

Logan Elm built a 20-point halftime margin against visiting New Lexington St. Aloysius Academy Saturday, then scrambled to a 67-56 victory margin as the Braves lost three starters.

Jim Moorehead and Russ Merrin were benched by injuries and Don Schaal left the game via the personal foul route.

Moorehead banged a knee early in the game and saw no further action. Shortly after the second quarter began, Merrin sustained a bruised hip which slowed his play.

He was taken out in the third quarter. Schaal picked up his fifth personal foul in the third quarter.

THE BRAVES started the tilt as though they were going to make it a rout, holding the visitors to one field goal in the first quarter.

The score was 15-5 as the initial eight minutes of play ended.

In the second period, the Braves boosted their scoring rate, hitting for 24 markers while holding St. Al's cagers to 14 and led, 39-19, at halftime.

In the third period the teams fought on fairly even terms. The score was 54-35 as the final canto began.

But with LE Coach Keith Merrin substituting freely during the final period, the visitors began to narrow the margin separating the two teams.

But time ran out before they by Hardin - Simmons' Frank Goode, who played 12 games that year.

Grabowski, the Illini's 211-pound fullback, blasted his way for 1,258 yards in 252 carries.

could overcome the Braves' lead.

THE BRAVES dominated rebounding. They pulled 51 off the boards compared to 28 for the visitors.

Logan Elm guard Tom Smith held Greg Fox, St. Al's high scorer, to five points. Fox had scored more than 20 markers per game in previous tilts this year.

The Braves had 13 turnovers, compared to 16 for the losers.

From the field, the Braves converted 34 per cent of their shots. St. Al hit 37 per cent of its goal attempts.

At the foul line Logan Elm connected on 21 of 32 chances. The visitors hit 16 of 25.

Game scoring honors went to Tim Hill who sank eight field goals and 12 charity tosses for 28 points. Berry Martindale was the only other member of the St. Al team to crack the double figure column, with 10 points coming on five field goals.

THE BRAVES' offense was headed by Darryl Reichelderfer who hit on five field goals and three charity tosses for 13 points.

Smith had 12 markers, Danny Dahl 11, Steve Fouch nine, Merrin eight, Don Schaal six, Greg Fraumfelter four, Don Benner and Ken Palmer two each.

The little Braves won the reserve game, 31-24. Logan Elm hosts Unioto in an SVC game Friday and entertains Westfall on Saturday.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

SCRAMBLE — This scramble in the first quarter of the game between Teays Valley and Westfall was typical of the thrilling action throughout the contest. A capacity crowd was on hand to see the Mustangs win in a triple overtime.

Mustangs Defeat Vikings In Three Overtimes, 79-72

By BILL DORE
Westfall High School's Mustangs tripped Teays Valley in a triple-overtime tilt Saturday, 79-72, on the Vikings' home floor.

For the third consecutive game Teays Valley fans got their share of thrills and chills. And for the third time, the Vikings came out on the short end of a very close score.

Teays Valley controlled the opening tip, and for the most part the first half of play.

At several points during the third quarter, the Vikings were up by as much as 16 markers.

BUT Larry Wilson's crew from Westfall fought back gamely. With TV scoring only 18 points during the third period, the Mustangs started to close the gap with 23.

Teays Valley led by a scant five points to start the final can- to, 47-42. In the hectic fourth quarter, Westfall controlled the tip and quickly scored to bring them within three.

Tom Hamman followed with a 20-foot jump shot and then came right back to score on a driving layup and the foul shot that followed put the Mustangs ahead, 49-47, for the first time in the game. There remained 6:47 of playing time left at this point.

ASSIST — Teays Valley's Butch Kinsell seems to be riding on the shoulders of an unidentified Westfall player as he drove in for a layup.

Butch Kinsell quickly knotted things by hitting both ends of a one-and-one situation.

Westfall stormed ahead in the next few minutes and were up by eight points with 3:43 to go.

Then it was Teays Valley's turn to come back. Using the fast break effectively, the Vikings evened the score at 58-58 on a jump shot by Rod Teets, with a fine assist from Gerald Green.

THE MUSTANGS called time and when action started again, Neil Coleman hit one of his long range jump shots. Only 40 seconds of play remained.

Kinsell clicked on a 15-foot shot to tie the score again. Neither team was able to score again in regulation play.

On the tip of the first overtime, Westfall controlled the ball and Coleman hit another long jump shot to put the Mustangs ahead.

Gary Wilson came back for TV and canned two pressure packed foul shots.

With 51 seconds remaining in the first overtime, Coleman connected on another long shot. But TV came right back as Teets knotted the score at 64-64.

A desperation shot by Coleman hit the rim of the basket, rolled around twice and then fell off the side, and the game went into the second overtime.

IN THE second extra session, Tom Beard quickly scored for the Mustangs. But Green retaliated for TV and the score was tied again.

For about two minutes, neither team could score.

With 50 seconds to go, Hamman took a pass from Coleman and put the Mustangs out front. Eight seconds later, Kinsell was fouled and the 5-10 senior calmly stepped up and cashed in on the two gift shots.

This time it was Ray Mowery's turn to give the Viking fans a scare as he took a desperation shot which hit the rim, bounced high into the air and fell away from the basket.

With the capacity crowd going wild, the third and final overtime began. In this extra session, Westfall outscored Teays Valley, 11-4.

Coleman led all scorers with 29 points. Beard was right behind with 20 for the Mustangs.

TEAYS VALLEY featured a more balanced attack with four of the five starters hitting in double figures.

Gary Wilson had 18 points. Green led in assists with seven and in rebounds with 10.

As a team, Teays Valley hit on 23 of 55 shots for a 41.8 per cent mark.

From the charity stripe, the Vikings cashed in on 26 of 39 attempts for a 67 per cent clip. The Mustangs hit 11 of 19.

In the preliminary tilt, TV salvaged a split as they overwhelmed the jayvees from Westfall, 53-34.

Laurelville Downs Wilton Cagers, 107-61

Laurelville passed the century mark Saturday, defeating visiting Wilton, 107-61, in a Vinton-Hocking League tilt.

It was the fourth victory for the Wildcats in the newly formed basketball league and their sixth win in seven starts.

Dwight Woodward paced the winning offense with 26 markers. The Wildcats seared the nets, shooting a torrid 53 per cent from the field.

The Laurelville reserves won the preliminary contest, 66-29.

The Wildcats play at Miller High School in Perry County Friday in another V-H loop test.

Ohio Colleges Book 61 Tilts For This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's colleges have booked 61 basketball games for this week, starting as Ohio State unveils its sophomore flash, Bill Hosket.

The Buckeyes, 1-1 on foreign floors, play North Carolina's tough Tarheels tonight and visit Butler Wednesday before taking a 12-day layoff.

A long way from Los Angeles, where Hosket was a standout but didn't get much help, the Bucks hope to rebound from last Friday's 92-66 shellacking by NCAA champion UCLA.

North Carolina figures as no easy mark, based on its 82-68 conquest of William & Mary Saturday night.

Nine Ohio teams, including majors Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo and Kent State, boosted their records to 2-0 on Saturday's 26-game slate.

The Bearcats drubbed Miami's Redskins 68-58, the Flyers won at Eastern Kentucky 72-69 as big Hank Finkel got 25 points, Toledo jounced Wisconsin State 105-64, and Kent squelched Pitt 79-67.

Ohio University and Bowling Green of the Mid-American Conference bowed on Big Ten courts. Northwestern edged the Bobcats 62-60 on football quarterback Dave Milam's closing-seconds free throws, and No. 2 ranked Michigan clawed the Falcons 108-70.

The 2-for-2 teams among the smaller schools as a result of Saturday triumphs are Denison, Central State, Findlay, Defiance and Bluffton. All won by at least 10 points.

Ohio Wesleyan qualifies as the state's tough luck team. The Bishops lost 78-77 in the last second and 75-73 in the last five seconds in two outings last week.

Features this week include: Tuesday — Michigan State at Bowling Green, Miami at Dayton Wednesday — Canisius at Xavier, Thursday — Toledo at Temple, Friday and Saturday — Miami in Pittsburgh's Steel and Capital in the Valparaiso (Ind.) Lutheran tourney. Saturday — Syracuse at Kent State Ohio U. at Chicago Loyola, Xavier at St. Bonaventure.

Trojan Halfback Wins Rushing Title

NEW YORK (AP) — All-America Mike Garrett of Southern California and Jim Grabowski of Illinois, two hard-hitting workhorses, finished 1-2 in the 1965 major college football rushing race.

Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner as the nation's top player, won the title with 1,440 yards, according to figures released today by the NCAA. The sturdy 5-foot-9 Trojan halfback carried 267 times in 10 games, only three less carries than the single-season record set in 1951

Braves Stop St. Al, 67-56

PALMER PUMPS — Ken Palmer (24) arches a shot toward the basket late in the game between Logan Elm and St. Aloysius. Other Braves in the action are Tom Smith (left), Don Benner (42) and Danny Dahl (22). Logan Elm won, 67-56.

Logan Elm built a 20-point halftime margin against visiting New Lexington St. Aloysius Academy Saturday, then scrambled to a 67-56 victory margin as the Braves lost three starters.

Jim Moorehead and Russ Merrin were benched by injuries and Don Schaaf left the game via the personal foul route.

Moorehead banged a knee early in the game and saw no further action. Shortly after the second quarter began, Merrin sustained a bruised hip which slowed his play.

He was taken out in the third quarter. Schaaf picked up his fifth personal foul in the third quarter.

THE BRAVES started the tilt as though they were going to make it a rout, holding the visitors to one field goal in the first quarter.

The score was 15-5 as the initial eight minutes of play ended.

In the second period, the Braves boosted their scoring rate, hitting for 24 markers while holding St. Al's cagers to 14 and led, 39-19, at halftime.

In the third period the teams fought on fairly even terms. The score was 54-35 as the final canto began.

But with L.E. Coach Keith Merrin substituting freely during the final period, the visitors began to narrow the margin separating the two teams.

Fierce Bears Puncture Baltimore's Title Hopes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chicago's fierce Bears racked up Johnny Unitas, roughed up the Baltimore Colts, and opened up the Western Division race for a down-to-the-wire finish.

It happened in the National Football League's big one at Baltimore Sunday. After the brawl was over, it was Bears 13, Colts 0. But the crusher for Baltimore came earlier, toward the end of the first half when some 500 pounds of brawn chopped down Unitas.

Bear defensive tackles Stan Jones and Earl Leggett caught Unitas in a pincer movement that knocked the superstar quarterback out of the game, out of the rest of the season, and mostly likely out of the league title playoff — if the Colts make it.

A few hours after the game, Unitas underwent surgery for a torn ligament in his right knee. He definitely will be sidelined for Baltimore's two remaining season games, and the chances are very slight he would be ready for a possible match with Cleveland's Eastern champion Browns for the championship Jan. 2.

Despite the loss in the penalty-filled, fist-swinging affair with the Bears, the Colts still lead in the West with a 9-2-1 record. But the Green Bay Packers are right behind at 9-3 after beating the Minnesota Vikings 24-19 and have a showdown coming with the Colts at Baltimore next Sunday, when capable but seldom-tested Gary Cuozzo will fill in for Unitas.

On the final weekend, the Colts play the Rams at Los Angeles and the Packers meet the 49ers at San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the surging Bears still are in it at 8-4. They've lost only once in their last nine games — 26-21 to Baltimore four weeks ago. The Bears take on the 49ers in Chicago next week, then finish at home against the Vikings.

Elsewhere in the NFL — the Browns, with the Eastern title already wrapped up, came back in the final period for a 24-16 victory over the Washington Redskins; rookie Tucker Fredrickson scored three touchdowns as the New York Giants took over sole possession of second in the East, whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers 35-10; the Los Angeles Rams buried the St. Louis Cardinals 27-3; the 49ers turned back the Detroit Lions 17-14 with two fourth-quarter touchdowns; and the Dallas Cowboys blocked two field-goal tries in edging the Philadelphia Eagles 21-19.

Wray Carlton's wife is in for a tough week. He's had another good game.

It was so good, as a matter of fact, that the Buffalo running back undoubtedly will cut off the daily newspaper, pull down the window shades and become a recluse in the Carlton household.

Carlton, normally a halfback, ran from the fullback position — and all over the defensive positions — as the Eastern Division champion Bills experimented with a new backfield en route to a 29-18 American Football League victory over Houston.

Carlton took over for Billy Joe at fullback, while Bobby Smith ran from the halfback position, and rambled for 148 yards in 11 carries including an 80-yard touchdown run. He was so effective there's no doubt his name will be in the newspapers — the last thing he wants.

"Every time I get my name in the paper, something happens to me — a bad game or an injury," said Carlton recently. And it's hard to blame Carlton, whose career has been marked by injuries, for feeling that way.

It's been a different story this year with Carlton entering the game as the leading Buffalo rusher with 371 yards gained in 11 games. Against the Oilers he jumped the total almost half again to 519 — 14 yards off his best season with two games to go.

While the Bills were trying to get aligned for the championship game, the San Diego Chargers were trying to get in it and moved within one victory of the Western crown by crushing the New York Jets 38-7 Saturday. Oakland remained in the race with a 29-18 victory over Denver.

Browns' Fans Celebrate Last Home Game Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — There was a bigger celebration on the field than in the locker room after the Cleveland Browns beat the Washington Redskins Sunday.

Some of the 77,765 spectators charged out of the stands and ripped down both goal posts after the Browns scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns for a 24-16 come-from-behind victory in their last home game of the season.

Fans traded slaps on the back and a few traded punches before police cleared the merrymakers and belligerents off the field.

By contrast, the Browns' locker room was subdued. Cleveland already had clinched the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship and now has a 10-2 record.

"No coach is ever satisfied," said Browns' skipper Blanton Collier. "We can't play every game or every play perfectly."

The Browns were behind 16-10 and Washington was moving in the fourth quarter when an interception and a fumble turned the game.

Vince Costello picked off a pass by Sonny Jurgensen to set up a 14-yard touchdown flip from Frank Ryan to Tom Hutchinson. With 3:14 left in the game, Jim Houston grabbed a Jurgensen fumble on the Redskins' 18-yard line.

Jim Brown bulled over from the five-yard line for his 20th touchdown of the season, tying an NFL record set last season by Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts.

Redskins' Coach Bill McPeak summed up the game: "We played a good first half." Washington led 16-7 at halftime but was shut out after the intermission.

The Redskins scored 10 points in 57 seconds in the second quarter. Jurgensen fired a six-yard touchdown pass to Pat Richter and Bob Jencks added a 20-yard field goal.

Charley Taylor cracked two yards for a touchdown in the first quarter after Carl Kammerer recovered Ryan's fumble on the Browns' 15. Costello blocked the conversion and the Browns went ahead briefly in the second quarter on a seven-yard touchdown toss from Ryan to Gary Collins. Lou Groza added a 42-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Brown's 141 yards in 27 attempts marked the eighth time this season and the 58th game of his NFL career he has rushed for more than 100 yards.

The crowd boosted the Browns seven-game home attendance to 557,283, breaking the NFL record of 549,334 set by Cleveland last year.

Iowa Hurries To Win with Press-Break

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iowa's hurrying Hawkeyes, who beat mighty UCLA at its own game last winter, have stepped out this season by running over college basketball's biggest little giant.

While two of its Big Ten neighbors were wiling in the UCLA pressure cooker last weekend, Iowa downed Evansville 80-73, snapping the NCAA College Division kings' 35-game winning streak.

The Hawkeyes, who borrowed UCLA's press-and-break system under new coach Ralph Miller last season and used it to hand the national champions one of their two setbacks, made a pitch for 1965-66 recognition by knocking off Evansville on its home court Saturday night.

The victory also evened a score for the Hawkeyes, who were one of Evansville's eight major college victims last year when the Aces rolled through 29 games without a loss. Iowa's full-court press and a 29-point, 22-rebound performance by 6-foot-7 George Peeples stopped the streak.

UCLA, which shrugged off last season's 87-82 loss to Iowa and finished with a 28-2 mark and its second straight NCAA championship, romped past Ohio State 92-66 and Illinois 97-79 over the weekend. Sophomore Mike Warren, backcourt heir to All-America Gail Goodrich, sparked the top-ranked Bruins with 23 points against the Buckeyes and 28 against Illinois.

Eight other nationally ranked powers broke on top last week but 10th ranked Kansas State was beaten twice — by Creighton 83-75 and Tulsa 70-63.

Michigan, paced by All-America Cazzie Russell, ripped Bowling Green 108-70 Saturday night after topping Tennessee 71-63. Duke, which tangles with UCLA twice this weekend, warmed up by ripping Virginia Tech 112-79 and Clemson 83-68. Mike Lewis, the Blue Devils' 6-foot-7 soph center, had 16 points and 17 rebounds against Clemson Saturday night.

Fourth-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia buried Hofstra 96-57 and Fairfield 100-74; No. 5 Vanderbilt whipped Wittenberg 87-59; No. 6 Providence beat Villanova 69-59; No. 7 Minnesota took North Dakota 73-59 and Iowa State 80-69; No. 8 Kansas downed Arkansas 81-52 and Texas Tech 74-70; and Bradley defeated Wisconsin-Milwaukee 104-68 and Northern Michigan 90-78.

Chicago's fierce Bears raked up Johnny Unitas, roughed up the Baltimore Colts, and opened up the Western Division race for a down-to-the-wire finish.

It happened in the National Football League's big one at Baltimore Sunday. After the brawl was over, it was Bears 13, Colts 0. But the crusher for Baltimore came earlier, toward the end of the first half when some 500 pounds of brawn chopped down Unitas.

Bear defensive tackles Stan Jones and Earl Leggett caught Unitas in a pincer movement that knocked the superstar quarterback out of the game, out of the rest of the season, and mostly likely out of the league title playoff — if the Colts make it.

A few hours after the game, Unitas underwent surgery for a torn ligament in his right knee. He definitely will be sidelined for Baltimore's two remaining season games, and the chances are very slight he would be ready for a possible match with Cleveland's Eastern champion Browns for the championship Jan. 2.

Despite the loss in the penalty-filled, fist-swinging affair with the Bears, the Colts still lead in the West with a 9-2-1 record. But the Green Bay Packers are right behind at 9-3 after beating the Minnesota Vikings 24-19 and have a show-down coming with the Colts at Baltimore next Sunday, when capable but seldom-tested Gary Cuozzo will fill in for Unitas.

On the final weekend, the Colts play the Rams at Los Angeles and the Packers meet the 49ers at San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the surging Bears still are in it at 8-4. They've lost only once in their last nine games — 26-21 to Baltimore four weeks ago. The Bears take on the 49ers in Chicago next week, then finish at home against the Vikings.

Elsewhere in the NFL — the Browns, with the Eastern title already wrapped up, came back in the final period for a 24-16 victory over the Washington Redskins; rookie Tucker Fredrickson scored three touchdowns as the New York Giants took over sole possession of second in the East, whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers 35-10; the Los Angeles Rams buried the St. Louis Cardinals 27-3; the 49ers turned back the Detroit Lions 17-14 with two fourth-quarter touchdowns; and the Dallas Cowboys blocked two field-goal tries in edging the Philadelphia Eagles 21-19.

tough week. He's had another good game.

It was so good, as a matter of fact, that the Buffalo running back undoubtedly will cut off the daily newspaper, pull down the window shades and become a recluse in the Carlton household.

Carlton, normally a halfback, ran from the fullback position — and all over the defensive positions — as the Eastern Division champion Bills experimented with a new backfield en route to a 29-18 American Football League victory over Houston.

Carlton took over for Billy Joe at fullback, while Bobby Smith ran from the halfback position, and rambled for 148 yards in 11 carries including an 80-yard touchdown run. He was so effective there's no doubt his name will be in the newspapers — the last thing he wants.

"Every time I get my name in the paper, something happens to me — a bad game or an injury," said Carlton recently. And it's hard to blame Carlton, whose career has been marked by injuries, for feeling that way.

It's been a different story this year with Carlton entering the game as the leading Buffalo rusher with 371 yards gained in 11 games. Against the Oilers he jumped the total almost half again to 519 — 14 yards off his best season with two games to go.

While the Bills were trying to get aligned for the championship game, the San Diego Chargers were trying to get in it and moved within one victory of the Western crown by crushing the New York Jets 38-7 Saturday. Oakland remained in the race with a 29-18 victory over Denver.

Browns' Fans Celebrate Last Home Game Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — There was a bigger celebration on the field than in the locker room after the Cleveland Browns beat the Washington Redskins Sunday.

Some of the 77,765 spectators charged out of the stands and ripped down both goal posts after the Browns scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns for a 24-16 come-from-behind victory in their last home game of the season.

Fans traded slaps on the back and a few traded punches before police cleared the merrymakers and belligerents off the field.

By contrast, the Browns' locker room was subdued. Cleveland already had clinched the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship and now has a 10-2 record.

"No coach is ever satisfied," said Browns' skipper Blanton Collier. "We can't play every game or every play perfectly. I'm satisfied to win by scrambling."

The Browns were behind 16-10 and Washington was moving in the fourth quarter when an interception and a fumble turned the game.

Vince Costello picked off a pass by Sonny Jurgensen to set up a 14-yard touchdown flip from Frank Ryan to Tom Hutchinson. With 3:14 left in the game, Jim Houston grabbed a Jurgensen fumble on the Redskins' 18-yard line.

Jim Brown bulled over from the five-yard line for his 20th touchdown of the season, tying an NFL record set last season by Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts.

Redskins' Coach Bill McPeak summed up the game: "We played a good first half. Washington led 16-7 at halftime but was shut out after the intermission."

The Redskins scored 10 points in 57 seconds in the second quarter. Jurgensen fired a six-yard touchdown pass to Pat Richter and Bob Jencks added a 20-yard field goal.

Charley Taylor cracked two yards for a touchdown in the first quarter after Carl Kammerer recovered Ryan's fumble on the Browns' 15. Costello blocked the conversion and the Browns went ahead briefly in the second quarter on a seven-yard touchdown toss from Ryan to Gary Collins. Lou Groza added a 42-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Brown's 141 yards in 27 attempts marked the eighth time this season and the 58th game of his NFL career he has rushed for more than 100 yards.

The crowd boosted the Browns seven-game home attendance to 557,283, breaking the NFL record of 549,334 set by Cleveland last year.

News of World in Brief

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An attempted jailbreak by three prisoners at the Mahoning County Jail was stopped quickly today after one prisoner wounded another and city police reinforcements were called in.

The three men, all convicted burglars from Youngstown, were at the head of a line of 25 men returning to their cells from breakfast on the fifth floor when the attempt was made, deputies said.

Deputy Sgt. John DePasco, 47, who was leading the prisoners, said two prisoners, Arthur Klinedinst, 35, and Frank D. Nunley, 25, grabbed him when he went to lock the door to the radio room on the fourth floor.

He said he tried to get his pistol from a holster at a desk behind the counter, but another prisoner, Vernon H. Miller, 47, vaulted the counter, grabbed the gun and fired at the deputy. The shot missed DePasco and hit Klinedinst in the right leg.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Lily Mae Lacey, 44, was shot today in her home in suburban Clevland and Hamilton County police reported they had to use tear gas to get a woman accused of the shooting.

Mrs. Lacey was reported in critical condition.

Police said a Withamsville woman still was carrying a gun when tear gas fumes forced her out of Mrs. Lacey's home. Deputy Richard Anderson wrested the weapon from her.

The reason for the shooting was not learned immediately.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The condition of Premier Levi Eshkol, hospitalized Saturday suffering from exhaustion, has improved, his office announced.

Doctors reported Sunday that the 70-year-old premier needs several days of rest.

about who would be elected president.

These were the results from nearly 24 million valid ballots in metropolitan France:

Charles de Gaulle 10,504,007 for 43.96 per cent.

Francois Mitterrand 7,655,042 for 32.04 per cent.

Jean Lecanuet 3,770,771 for 15.78 per cent.

Jean - Louis Tixier-Viganancour 1,269,095 for 5.31 per cent.

Pierre Marclhacy 414,056 for 1.73 per cent.

Marcel Barbu 278,420 for 1.16 per cent.

Still to be recorded were returns from about 446,000 voters in overseas territories.

The record vote was probably caused by two important factors: it was the first time in more than a century that Frenchmen took part directly in choosing a president. And it was the first presidential campaign where the candidates entered millions of homes via television.

Interest was kept high at the unusual sight and sound of men castigating De Gaulle and his policies.

Mitterrand, 49, got his support from the Communists, the Socialists and some radicals, and his total was not surprising.

However, the man who kept De Gaulle from winning a majority was a new face on the national scene: Jean Lecanuet, a 45-year-old Catholic centrist senator. He hit the European unity theme hard, and his good looks didn't hurt him with women voters.

Mt. Pleasant Grange Slates Dinner Meet

Mt. Pleasant Grange members will meet Dec. 8 at Wayne Twp. Elementary School Auditorium for its annual Christmas dinner and meeting.

The carry-in family dinner will start at 6:30 p. m. It is hoped that Grangers will activate their membership and interest at the event. The regular meeting will start at 8 p. m.

The Christmas program following the meeting will be in charge of Mrs. M. A. Greenwood, who has announced that in addition to the annual gift exchange, there will be a contest for all to enter. The ladies are being asked to enter their prettiest Christmas corsages in a prize-awarding event.

The men are asked to wear their homemade Christmas tie creations, which may follow any theme of their choosing — serious, religious, pretty or silly.

A can of grease on the stove there became overheated and ignited. Only small damage resulted, firemen said.

37-Year-Old Astronauts Have Colorful Careers

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — One is nicknamed "Shakey" because of his abundance of nervous energy; the other once thought a broken eardrum would keep him from ever flying again.

Full of wisecracks at times, but deadly serious when need be, this is the astronaut team of Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., both 37.

The two occupy the cramped quarters of the Gemini 7 spacecraft on the scheduled 14-day space journey, the longest and most important U.S. space venture to date.

Together, they can put on quite a show by often swapping comical jibes, through which emerge a deep friendship developed during three years as astronauts.

"He's affectionately known as Jim 'Shakey' Lovell among our group," said Borman with a broad grin during a recent interview.

"Thanks a lot," Lovell, a blond-haired, blue-eyed Naval Academy graduate, quickly retorted.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration official said the name "Shakey" grew from the fact Lovell is the nervous type who "flutters around like a flea" when wanting to get things done.

The Gemini twins' childhood years reflect a love for the air that started them on the road to their daring space adventure. Borman took flying lessons at 15; Lovell once almost blew himself up with a crude, home-made rocket when he was 16.

Borman, a Gary, Ind., native who was raised in Tucson, Ariz., graduated from West Point in 1950 and switched to the Air Force to become a pilot.

In November, 1951, his left eardrum broke during a routine training dive in an F80 jet.

Borman feared his flying days were over. Flight surgeons, who said a head cold contributed to the mishap, also discovered Borman had a calcium deposit inside the broken eardrum.

He was grounded immediately. However, the calcium dissolved and the ear healed. Borman was back in the air seven months later with normal hearing.

His desire to join the space team dates back to the time Russia launched its first Sputnik satellite in 1957.

Borman left a teaching assignment at West Point to enroll in the Air Force aerospace research pilot's school at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. He remained there to teach after graduation in 1960, a job he held until becoming an astronaut.

The Gemini 7 crewmen both were members of the second group of astronauts selected in September, 1962. They were the backup crew in June for the four-day Gemini 4 flight of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

Lovell, a Cleveland, Ohio, native who spent his childhood in Milwaukee, Wis., aspired to become a rocket engineer as a teen-ager and constructed several small, but volatile rockets at home.

He narrowly escaped injury when one of his rockets exploded on the launch pad. He recalls the launch was at least a partial success — the nose cone whirled 80 feet high.

Lovell attended the University of Wisconsin two years before joining the Navy.

He received his appointment to the Naval Academy while undergoing Navy flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

He applied for the astronaut program when applications were being accepted for the 1959 Mercury group, but did not make it. Three years later he was accepted.

At the time, he was a Navy flight instructor and safety officer at the Naval Air Station at Oceana, Va.

Charity Ball Invitations Being Sent

Invitations are now being mailed for this year's Charity Ball, sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

According to Saul Rogols, Kiwanis chairman, invitations are being sent to persons who had been placed on a waiting list. The purpose is to assure reserved space for members and guests.

The Annual Ball will be conducted Dec. 17 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Music will be provided by the Cliff Lash Orchestra.

Although the original reservation deadline was set for Dec. 7, Rogols said a limited number of reservations will be accepted between tomorrow and Dec. 16. Particular consideration will be given to those on the waiting list.

Members of the committee in charge emphasized that a limited number of reservations will be accepted. They said this is necessary in order to provide adequate accommodations for those who do attend.

Rogols extended appreciation to those on the waiting list for their enthusiasm. He noted that persons who have not received invitations or purchased tickets prior to the dance will not be admitted.

Elks Lodge Pays Respects To Deceased

Annual memorial services of Circleville BPO Elks Lodge were held Sunday afternoon.

It is during this ceremony that the lodge pays formal respect to members who have died within the last year.

Ten names have been added to the list of deceased members within the previous 12 months. They are:

William Hildenbrand, Franklin Glitt, Tom Renick, Ray Reid, Paul Adkins, Edward Wardell, John Grubb, Fred Moeller, Carson Dresbach and Boyd Roberts.

THE SERVICES were conducted by Marshall Winner, exalted ruler of the local lodge, and a corps of officers.

The lodge's ritual is based on the motto that "the faults of our brothers we write upon the sands, their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavian Vice President Alexander Rankovic praised the U.S. aid to the independent Communist country.

He spoke Sunday at the opening of the first stage of a big hydropower station, for which the United States granted a $15-million loan. Rankovic said the loan, "like other credit arrangements which we have received from the United States, represents mutually beneficial and constructive economic cooperation."

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Five planeloads of Chilean soldiers were reported en route to a disputed border area today while Chile and Argentina completed plans to hold high-level ministers' talks to ease the border tension.

Chile's largest newspaper, El Mercurio, said the troops were flown to Puerto Montt, about 750 miles south of Santiago, and would continue farther south to the remote border area when weather permitted.

Defense Ministers Juan de Dios Carmona of Chile and Leopoldo Suarez of Argentina were to meet Thursday in Balmaceda, Chile, 930 miles south of Santiago near the rugged Andean area both countries claim.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno challenged the Indonesian Parliament today to relieve him if it is dissatisfied with the way he is running the country.

There was no indication that the 600-member provisional People's Consultative Assembly would take up the challenge. It elected Sukarno president for life in 1963.

The president once more demanded that his full powers, which the army curtailed in the wake of the attempted coup on Oct. 1, be returned to him.

LONDON (AP)—Legalized off-track betting in Britain, a $2.8-billion-a-year business, has failed to keep gambling within reasonable bounds and is seriously hurting the economy, a member of a New York survey team said today.

Henry D. Paley said the report found that the poorest Britons gambled the most. This hurts the economy because it diverts money from normal consumer goods purchases by the working class, he said.
